Plant Executives, Lewis Group Are Unflinching in Refusals To Accept Mediation Compromise.

WARREN, Ohio, June 23.—(P)—Three explosions, reported as giant firecrackers or fireworks, occurred tonight near the Republic Steel Corporation's picketed Warren mill.

C. R. Wheeler, assistant plant manager, said no damage was caused. The explosives went off in a pile of fine dust on the plant's Mahoning river border, he said.

By the Associated Press.

National guardsmen with fixed bayonets at Warren, Ohio, dispersed a crowd of CIO steel strikers last night as tension heightened along the mill valley front amid CIO forecasts of a general strike in Trumbull county.

CIO leaders claimed thousands of workers were joining in a general sympathy strike—in protest against a picket-restraining court order—which they said would "paralyze" the 120,000 population of Trumbull county today.

By contrast, officials of the Packard Electric and Warren Tool companies, two of several concerns at which CIO leaders claimed employees had voted to strike, said they planned to carry on normal operations.

The union protest also was aimed against the movement of non-striker plant out of the Republic steel plant under protection of national guard rifles and machine guns.

The guardsmen were ordered into the Mahoning valley by Governor Martin L. Davey Tuesday.

Stirs Apprehension.

Couples with the CIO announced general strike, a statement by John McKeown, CIO organizer, that "a march by 50,000 union men from other cities might be called to protest alleged discrimination against steel strikers, stirred apprehension among authorities last night."

At the same time, in Cleveland, Frank Purnell, president of Youngstown Sheet & Tube, admitted that despite the renewed day-long efforts of President Roosevelt's federal mediation board to effect a solution, the

Jimmy Mattern Plans Oakland-Moscow Hop

OAKLAND, Cal., June 23.—(P)—James Mattern, noted flier, announced plans today for a non-stop refueling flight from here to Moscow over the route just flown by three Soviet airmen.

A new $100,000 twin-motored monoplane has been completed at Burbank, Cal., for the hazardous flight.

Mattern made his announcement as the three Soviet fliers, Valeri Chkalov, Georgi Baibukov and Alexander Belikov, entrained here for New York and Washington along with Russian Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky.

Because the plane has a cruising range of only 5,000 miles it would be necessary to refuel while flying, probably over Fairbanks, Alaska, Mattern explained.

Amelia Poised for Flight From East Indies to Darwin

Noted Aviatrix Is Delayed in Bandoeng, Java, Awaiting Repairs on Plane; Flyer Pays Visits to Neighboring Cities.

By AMELIA EARHART.

(Copyright, 1937, for The Constitution.)

BANDOENG, JAVA., DUTCH EAST INDIES, June 23.—My plans for leaving Bandoeng today cannot be carried out, as K. L. M. engineers and mechanics pleaded for two hours more to complete their work, so we now plan to hop off sometime after midnight, trying to reach Darwin by nightfall.

The delay at Bandoeng is well worth while, as only here, along the whole route, could fine instrument work be accomplished, as the Dutch use many American planes and accessories, and are excellent mechanics.

While they were busy, my sight-seeing extended itself to the neighboring city of Batavia; by scheduled air line. Batavia is 20 minutes from Bandoeng, but by car more than three hours. We drove there to see the country in its entirety and flew back to gain perspective.

Batavia is the capital of the Dutch East Indies. It was once a

SENATE APPROVES ARMY SUPPLY BILL

$663,000,000 Measure Calls for Expenditure of $33,756,561 in New Airplanes

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(UP)—The $663,000,000 War Department supply bill, which appropriates $33,756,561 for the purchase of new airplanes and funds to maintain a standing army of 165,000, was passed by the senate today and sent to conference with the house.

Before the final vote, Republicans joined Democrats in defeating by an overwhelming vote an amendment by Senator Lynn J. Frazier, Republican, North Dakota, which would have denied funds to colleges which have compulsory military training. The vote on the Frazier amendment was 85 to 15. Nine Democrats, three Republicans, one Progressive and one Farmer-Laborite joined with Frazier in support of the amendment.

The bill as passed by the senate today is $32,000,000 over budget estimates and exceeds the appropriation voted in the house by $33,000,000. It is $84,500,000 above the 1937 appropriation.

Nearly one-third of the appropriation, a total of $246,000,000 is allocated for expenditure on rivers, harbors and flood control work; $417,000,000 is for military purposes.

In addition to the $33,756,561 approved in Page 2, Column 5.

Allen Is Confirmed As Revenue Collector

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(P)—The senate confirmed today the nomination of Marion H. Allen to be collector of internal revenue for the district of Georgia.

Allen, formerly regional director here of the Federal Housing Administration, will succeed W. Eugene Page, Columbus publisher, as collector for Georgia. His name was sent to the senate a few weeks ago by President Roosevelt. Allen's home is at Milledgeville.

Mail Interference on Steel Front Recalls Cleveland's Edict in 1894

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The forceful action of President Cleveland in 1894 in rushing federal troops to Chicago to prevent obstruction of the mails was recalled here today as the Roosevelt administration moved to end interference with federal mails along the steel front.

Despite the vigorous protests of Governor Altgeld, of Illinois, a Democrat, President Cleveland crushed a general railway strike, centering in Chicago, by ordering United States troops to the metropolis.

Mails Kept Moving.

The mails were kept moving, the strike was broken as a consequence and, although severe reprimands were the order of the day, history has accorded Cleve-

Guy T. Helvering, Internal Revenue Commissioner, Testifies Use of This 'Device' on Increase, Costly to Government.

17 TO BE NAMED AT HEARING TODAY

Cecil B. De Mille Charged With 'Escaping' Levy Payments by Organizing Own Holding Company.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(P)—The Treasury reported to the congressional tax committee today that "many individuals" have "escaped" or reduced income tax payments by setting up personal holding companies.

Guy T. Helvering, Commissioner of internal revenue, testified that the use of this "device" was definitely on the increase, and that the loss in revenues to the government was "undoubtedly huge."

Assets such as securities, estates, farms and patents are transferred from the individuals to their holding companies, the official declared. He appealed for remedial legislation.

Reading from a prepared statement, he led the committee right up to the point of disclosing the names of 17 men alleged to have employed the practice. Then, to the disappointment of the spectators, the disclosure was postponed until tomorrow.

De Mille Accused.

The name he brought into the day's hearing was that of Cecil B. De Mille, the motion picture director, a case already well publicized because of an extended controversy in the courts. Helvering testified that De Mille formed a holding company to reduce his income. The latter paid him a salary which Helvering said was "far less than he knew he could command as a director."

De Mille ultimately won court approval for the plan on the plea

EARLE URGES F.D.R. FOR THIRD TERM

Pennsylvania Governor Says He Has No Personal Desire for Presidency.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(P)—A declaration by Governor George H. Earle, of Pennsylvania, for the re-election of President Roosevelt in 1940 produced a political sensation in the capital today.

Earle, who called out troops in the steel strike a few days ago, told newsmen he was getting tired of reports that his actions were due to a personal desire for the presidency.

"Between the third-term precedent and the welfare of the country," he asked, "can any patriotic citizen hesitate as to what course he will take? I am for Franklin D. Roosevelt for president in 1940, unqualifiedly and finally."

Some members of congress agreed with Earle's added assertion that there are no men in the Democratic or any other party who reach "knee-high in stature" to the President, but others took sharp issue.

Senator Burke, Democrat, Nebraska, a leading opponent of the Roosevelt bill to reorganize the supreme court, observed that "many precedents have been broken of late but this one (the precedent established by George Washington against a third term for presidents) will not be broken."

4 PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES ARE SEEN BY BUTLER.

LONDON, June 23.—(UP)—There will be four candidates for president of the United States in 1940, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, predicted today in an exclusive interview.

He said there was a distinct possibility the chief executive finally

Georgia Legislators Seek Decision on Special Session

A special committee of Georgia legislators met here yesterday to discuss advisability of an extra legislative session. The group is shown above, after it had elected officers (left to right): W. W. Mundy, W. H. Key, secretary; Senate President John Spivey, chairman; Roy Harris and (standing) Dave Atkinson.

RIVERS COMMITTEE DELAYS DECISION

Talk of New Tax Source Overshadows Conference on Special Session Call.

Liquor, luxury and sales taxes as means of filling missing links in Georgia's $20,000,000 appropriation bill superceded discussion of a levy on intangible property in the capitol yesterday.

While Governor Rivers' special committee studying possibility of an "intangible tax session" of the assembly in July held its first meeting, speculation mounted over a turn in favor of another form of taxation sure to produce a large and immediate income.

Indication Awaited.

It was generally understood no session of the assembly will be called before fall unless there is definite indication the state can raise approximately $2,000,000 this year through an intangible levy.

Other efforts toward filling in the officially estimated $4,000,000 hole in state income would await the session Rivers has promised "from Thanksgiving to Christmas."

Committeemen studying the July session problems said they had reached no definite conclusions yesterday, but had adjourned their discussion until a later meeting subject to call of the chairman, Senate President John B. Spivey, of Swainsboro.

Senator Lee S. Purdom, of Blackshear, member of another house-senate committee attempting to work out tax revision methods under the classification (intangible) amendment, said the job facing them was "highly complicated."

Ventures Hope.

He expressed full expectancy, however, the legislature at its next meeting, either special or regular, will face the liquor issue again.

"Some one," he said, "will be sure to introduce some kind of a repeal bill. As secretary of the state temperance committee, I would have to give it some attention."

He also scheduled a requested conference with Senator Dave S. Atkinson, of Savannah, on the latter's bill.

State Plans To Jail Lifer Who Escaped

24 Years of Freedom Will End for Jim Kimbrell, Georgia Fugitive.

Jim Kimbrell will resume service of a life sentence at Milledgeville as soon as he is brought back from Durant, Okla., where he was being held yesterday after 24 years of freedom following an escape from the Georgia state prison farm, Atlanta prison officials said yesterday.

Kimbrell, long known in Durant as James Early King, who had become prosperous as a farmer there, was identified as the Georgia chain-gang escape Monday after an arrest on a drunkenness charge.

He made his escape from the state prison farm on March 8, 1913, after serving only three months of a life sentence from Newton county following the slaying of Frank McCart in Covington in 1911.

Deputy Dudley J. Adams has been designated to go to Oklahoma for the prisoner, officials said, but has not yet left on the mission.

The killing that led to his trial was almost forgotten by Newton county officials, but Kimbrell told the officers who arrested him it arose from an altercation, and that McCart was drinking.

Kimbrell told officers in Durant of going first to Broken Bow, Okla., where he was joined later by his wife and 10 children from Georgia. When his children began writing friends back in Georgia, however, he feared detection and left his family to go to Ruel, Texas, they quoted him as relating.

There, he said, he married Pearl Hix and became the father of six more children. Then, 14 years ago, he moved to a farm six miles south of Durant, where he has lived since. He said he didn't know where his original family was and that his second wife had not been aware of his past.

RAIL PENSION ACT PASSES IN SENATE

Measure To Provide Up to $120 a Month for Workers Sent to F.D.R.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(P)—The senate approved and sent to the White House today a bill to revise the retirement law covering the nation's 1,150,000 railway workers.

The bill, the Wagner-Crosser railroad retirement bill, which won house approval earlier this week, passed the senate without a record vote.

Drafted in conformity with an agreement between class one roads and the 21 principal railway unions, the measure provides pensions up to $120 a month for employees retired because of age or disability.

The employees are specifically excluded from benefits of the social security act.

The agreement, reached in February on suggestion of President Roosevelt, settled litigation that tied up operation of a 1935 retirement act. A 1934 act had been held unconstitutional.

The cost of the annuities, estimated at $118,250,000 in 1938, will be provided by taxes shared equally by the roads and their employees starting at 5 1-2 per cent and increasing in 12 years to 7 1-2 per cent.

Separate tax legislation is awaiting action by the house.

Clergyman Convicted Of Slaying His Wife

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., June 23.—(P)—The Rev. Harry Ashley, 44, who carried a Bible to court during his trial, was convicted last night of the slaying of his 17-year-old wife, Virginia, last January. Ashley testified his wife carried on a clandestine affair in the home of a neighbor.

Atlanta, Athens Boys Rush to Enter In Soap Box Derby Preliminaries

Speed is a prime essential in the annual Soap Box Derby. Youthful Atlantans didn't wait to be told that. They surmised as much.

As result, to date more young racers have filed applications to enter the 1937 running of the Atlanta Soap Box Derby than did during the entire registration period last year.

In Athens, where a preliminary race will be run to select the Classic city's representative in the North Georgia Derby, it was reported more than 100 youths have filed application blanks.

The Athens race will be run July 16 while the Atlanta Derby finals and the finals of the North Georgia Soap Box Derby will be run at Soap Box Derby Downs on Northside drive July 24.

Preliminary heats for the Atlanta Derby will begin July 22.

Loyalist Commander Orders Airplanes To Protect English Freighter Which Appealed for Aid Against Italian Warship

4 GERMAN SHIPS LEAVE GIBRALTAR

Nazi Ambassador Joachim Von Ribbentrop Leaves London by Plane To Return to Berlin.

LONDON, June 23.—(P)—Great Britain shouldered the fate of the non-intervention patrol around Spain tonight as Germany and Italy withdrew from co-operation for the second time.

Indignant at the refusal of Britain and France to approve a four-power naval demonstration against the Spanish government, the Fascist and Nazi states rent the neutrality cordon.

Their action left a gap along the eastern coast of Spain where German and Italian warships supervised the 27-nation ban on the flow of foreign volunteers and munitions to Spanish belligerents.

NAZI BATTLESHIP SAILS FOR SPAIN

BERLIN, June 23.—(P)—The government announced tonight that the Nazi pocket battleship Graf Spee had sailed for Spain "for the protection of German interests."

Germany with Italy withdrew warships from the European non-intervention committee patrol today, after refusal by Britain and France to sanction a naval display to warn the Spanish Valencia government against interfering with such ships.

But dispatch of the Graf Spee, officials indicated, demonstrated Chancellor Hitler's determination not to reduce Nazi naval forces in Spanish waters.

Germany, supported by Italy, demanded the anti-Spanish demonstration as a "warning" following alleged attempts by Spanish government submarines to torpedo the German cruiser Leipzig.

Italy Acts With Germany.

Italy acted in concert with Germany, announcing she noted in the failure of the London conversations "the lack of collaboration necessary for common action relative to the knowledge of incidents which occurred during the international control."

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden late in the afternoon sped by taxi to Buckingham Palace upon command of King George VI who wanted to learn at first-hand the status of the Spanish situation.

They were closeted together for an hour.

The foreign secretary faced three problems:

TAX 'DODGE' CHARGE DENIED BY DE MILLE

Movie Producer Cites Court Ruling as Answer to Helvering's Accusation.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 23.—(P)—Movie Producer Cecil B. de Mille said in a statement today tax appeal decisions in his favor themselves deny he had attempted to evade taxes.

His statement was in answer to testimony of Internal Revenue Commissioner Guy T. Helvering before the congressional tax inquiry committee.

"The United States board of tax appeals," de Mille said, "rendered the decisions in the cases of the government against Cecil B. de Mille Productions, Inc., and Cecil B. de Mille personally, which clearly and emphatically denied the government's contention that de Mille Productions was formed to evade taxes, and the board of tax appeals so rendered its decision against the government."

"This opinion was unanimously upheld by the United States court of appeals for the ninth circuit. There is nothing I can add to the decision of the two courts, except to quote from Dr. James Rowland Angell's speech made yesterday to the graduating class at Yale:

"Tyranny is not less tyrannical when exercised by a dictator or an irresponsible government bureau . . . than when imposed by an economic royalist."

that the corporation "was saving up money to go into the production of pictures at a later date." The court overruled the government's contention that "the accumulation of this surplus was unreasonable and a purposeful attempt to evade surtaxes."

Details Made Known. Otherwise, the committee's session was devoted to the reception of more details of the practice of taking out huge one-premium life insurance policies, with a Bahamas company, immediately borrowing to the limit on them and then deducting interest payments from taxable income.

The committee received testimony yesterday that six New York men, including Richard E. Dwight, a former law partner of Charles Evans Hughes Jr., the son of the chief justice, had sought such deductions, but were now offering to settle in full.

The only safe course, therefore, for those not actually unlawfully participating is to abide at their homes, or at least not to be found in the neighborhood of riotous assemblies. "While there will be no hesitation or vacillation in the decisive treatment of the guilty, this warning is especially intended to protect and save the innocent."

ter's proposal to place state-owned liquor stores in cities voting wet in the June 8 unsuccessful repeal referendum.

The purpose of the conference, he said, was to let Atkinson "explain his proposition."

In making his original suggestion, Atkinson said the system would allow the state to procure "sorely needed" revenue to meet the requirements of the social security program.

Says Slash Aids Repeal. Another leading member of the assembly declared yesterday the announcement of a 20 per cent cut ordered in state budgets due to the financial situation "reacted in favor of repeal."

"A week ago, repeal couldn't have been passed," he said. "This week, since the members see what the financial situation is, I believe it would pass."

Alternative methods of raising the revenue, he pointed out, were through a luxury tax—on soft drinks and other selected items—or a general sales tax.

Either of the taxes, he said, would start an immediate flow of cash into the state's treasury, and could be made to produce a high income.

The mixture of talk over sales and liquor taxes brought up anew House Speaker Roy V. Harris' floor statement it was either a tax on liquor or a sales or gross receipts tax if the state's program was to be financed.

Course Interrupted. General discussion of the intangible levy proposed for the July session brought out several handicaps to this course.

The new law, to be effective, would have to be of such a stringent nature as to force return of property.

Being a new law, it would require quite some time for preparation, and would necessitate extensive study of the ability of various classes of property to bear taxation without being driven into hiding or from the state.

The revenue to be derived could not be determined until experience with the law enacted.

Chairman Spivey indicated these and other questions were uppermost in the minds of those charged with recommending action on the proposed July session.

The committee received data from Comptroller General William B. Harrison, chief tax officer of the state, and information on the expense of a special session. Rivers has said he will not call the session unless prospective revenue will warrant the cost.

will be elected by the house of representatives.

"Nineteen-forty is too soon for any clearing of the present fog," he said. "It will be chaos, but 1944 should see the rather clear-cut lines of new political forces."

Butler predicted the finish of the Republican and Democratic parties and the evolution of two major parties. The most powerful would be a liberal-constitutional party, a combination of present liberal Republicans and conservative Democrats, whose purpose would be to accomplish needed reforms within the constitution.

The second party would be composed of "all reactionaries, radicals and turbulentists opposed to constitutional procedure."

Butler did not believe the new parties would emerge before 1944, but expected the beginning of a movement in 1940 to name presidential candidates representing present Republicans and Democrats, "new radicals" and "a new liberal-constitutional alliance."

Before the 1936 presidential election Butler forecast a Republican party.

"There isn't any Republican party now," he said. "There is no organization and no leadership, although there are some 18,000,000 Republicans."

Two Sprints Needed to Cinch Arrest.

Two sprints were needed to capture a negro suspect who allegedly stole jewelry and cash from the home of Mrs. A. E. Berkele at 919 West Peachtree street last night, police reports revealed.

Radio Patrolman F. J. Aycock and G. B. Scoggins said the suspect, listed as Isaiah Newson, 23, rear of Peachtree street, was seen running from the house, which he had allegedly entered through a rear stairway. Patrolman Aycock chased and caught him.

As the officers were taking him to the house, the negro jumped from the radio car and fled. Again, Patrolman Aycock pursued and captured him. The negro was charged with suspicion of burglary. No estimate of the loot was given.

UNIVERSITY FRESHMAN JUST DROPS FROM SIGHT

BELZONI, Miss., June 23.—(UP)—Concern grew here tonight over the fate of C. M. (Pat) Murphy, 17-year-old University of Mississippi freshman student, missing since June 15.

Two Plans for Britain. Without the latter powers patrolling their zones around Spain, British sources pointed out two alternatives: withdrawal herself from the patrol, or repairing the gaps in the cordon by herself or with France.

In Barcelona, General Sebastian Pozas, commander of the Catalan forces of the Spanish government, reported he had ordered warplanes to protect a British freighter that had appealed for aid against an Italian warship.

(He declared the freighter charged the warship attempted to stop and search her.)

Germany's Naval Division. A German division, composed of the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer, the cruisers Nurnberg and Karlsruhe, three destroyers and one transport, entered the Tagus river near Lisbon.

Gibraltar reported four German warships steamed out of Algeciras harbor in an easterly direction.

The admiralty apparently was refraining from moving any warships and some sources said they believed Foreign Secretary Eden would develop in Rome and Berlin. German Ambassador Joachim von Ribbentrop left tonight by airplane for Berlin.

The government sent new instructions to its warships off the Basque coast to protect ships carrying refugees from Santander and Bilbao.

It was stipulated the refugees may be only women and children.

INSURGENT TIDE ROLLS TOWARD SANTANDER

PORTUGALETE, Spain, June 23.—(P)—The insurgent tide rolled westward from Bilbao tonight toward Santander, last important city held by the Basques.

Artillery thundered in the hills. Five columns of infantrymen moved out of the Bilbao region on roads leading toward Santander.

Insurgents occupied Portugaleta, industrial town which was the last foothold of Basques along the nervous estuary linking fallen Bilbao to the sea.

So powerful was the new insurgent advance that officers expected to conquer Valmaseda, first main objective, within two days. Valmaseda is west and south of Bilbao, about a third of the distance to Santander.

BUILDING SHOWS GAIN.

AMERICUS, Ga., June 23.—(P)—City Engineer S. S. Hudson today reported 20 new buildings have been constructed here this year at a cost of $62,000—$17,000 ahead of the same time in 1936.

AMERICAN HELD FOR MADRID QUIZ

Coded Documents Found in Man's Cane.

MADRID, June 23.—(UP)—Spanish police tonight investigated activities of William J. Findley, an American citizen who was detained at Barcelona when maps and coded documents assertedly were found concealed in his cane, according to a Febus (Spanish) News Agency dispatch.

Findley, 38, and reportedly from Washington, D. C., attracted police attention, the dispatch said, when he entered Spain at Portbou carrying an unusually thick cane.

Police allegedly found photographs and a map in the cane, and a coded document, part of which was sewn in the lining of his cap.

C. R. HALL TO HEAD VETERANS' CHAPTER Newly Founded Unit Completes Organization.

Cecil R. Hall yesterday was elected commander of the newly organized Morton T. Nicholes Chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War. He is former commander of the Georgia department of the D. A. V.

The chapter was named for the late Lieutenant Morton Turnbull Nicholes, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Nicholes, of Atlanta.

C. L. Taylor was elected senior vice commander; Henry Sanford, treasurer; S. N. Elliott, historian; Hugh Sims, officer of the day; E. E. Puhlman, chaplain; Fred C. Becker, chapter adjutant; and Joe King, sergeant-at-arms.

Members of the executive committee include Frank Fling, Jesse S. Hall, Harry Barfield, Harry Magbee and C. D. Bagwell.

MOORE, TECH STUDENT, REPORTED RECOVERING

ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 23.—(P)—Alexandria hospital attendants said today William E. Moore, Georgia School of Technology student, was "recovering nicely" from injuries received in an automobile accident last Thursday.

Arthur Armstrong, athletic director of Georgia Tech, and H. B. Boulware, another student, were injured in the same accident. Hospital attendants said Moore was "up and walking around" the institution today.

FRANCE'S CABINET TO CONFER TODAY ON FRANC CRISIS

$450,000,000 for Stabilizing Franc Is Virtually Exhausted, Says Paris.

PARIS, June 23. — (AP) — The new People's Front government with its gold defense fund almost gone, tonight trimmed its sails to the storm that drove out the cabinet of Leon Blum.

Premier Camille Chautemps, with Blum in his cabinet, was expected to seek only limited powers from parliament instead of the virtual financial dictatorship that Blum asked and was denied by a hostile senate.

Severity of the financial situation was indicated by disclosure that the 10,000,000,000 - franc ($450,000,000) fund was almost gone when the Chautemps government took office.

To Tackle Problem Today. The cabinet, including 23 members of the old government, will hold its first meeting tomorrow to begin its attempt to solve the financial tangle.

Final decisions of policy, however, were expected to await arrival of the new finance minister, Georges Bonnet, who was hurrying to Paris from his post as French ambassador in Washington.

It was believed that Bonnet, fresh from talks with President Roosevelt, would preserve the tripartite monetary agreement with the United States and Great Britain and would avoid any abrupt devaluation or stabilization.

Task Complicated. His task was complicated, however, by the fact the stabilization fund, with which France co-operated in working toward a stable international currency, was all but gone.

The fund "soon will be obliged to call for gold from the Bank of France," Professor Charles Rist and Paul Baudouin declared in the letter resigning from the fund control committee.

Tax Collector Cross-Examined on Stock Deals.

Testifying he bought Stutz stock because he thought Kopald-Quinn & Company "knew what they were talking about" when they told him it would rise in price, Loring R. Bracken, Ocala, Fla., tax collector, underwent cross-examination in the Kopald-Quinn mail fraud trial here yesterday.

Thomas Burke, Chicago, book-keeper for one of the stock firms mentioned in testimony during the ten weeks of the trial, testified yesterday as to certain books the government seeks to present as evidence and methods employed in their operation.

Considerable time was consumed in argument over admissibility of records of the several companies, introduction of which is sought by the government.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning show there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the millions of kidney tubes flush out poisons waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Moderate Course of Action Seen For Premier Chautemps' Cabinet

Internationally Known Journalist Declares the French 'New Deal' Program of Leon Blum Is Being Liquidated.

The personality, political views and probable policies of France's new premier, Camille Chautemps, are analyzed here by an internationally known journalist who has interviewed both M. Chautemps and ex-Premier Leon Blum. He spends much of his time in France, about which he has written extensively in books and magazine articles. His latest books are "Millions of Dictators," which deals with the problems of the average man in France and other European countries; "The New Deal in Europe," "The Cauldron Boils," and "Hitler."

By EMIL LENGYEL.
(Copyright, 1937, for The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, June 23. — "The French new deal" is being liquidated. Camille Chautemps, 52-year-old radical Socialist leader, has taken the place of Leon Blum, Socialist leader, who headed the government of France for more than a year. French radical Socialists, are, of course, less radical than the Socialists, and the new prime minister is known in the Paris chamber of deputies as "the conciliator." He has the reputation of being able to put across his ideas without creating bad blood.

Probably more than any other members of his party, Chautemps is typical of a party of small bourgeois, comprising shopkeepers, artisans, farmers and white collar workers. He has politics in his blood. His father was a minister of the French republic and his uncle was a distinguished senator. Camille Chautemps was still in his early twenties when he began his political career as the mayor of the city of Tours.

Saving Habit Rooted. Chautemps believes that the French capitalist has not yet outlived his usefulness, even though capitalism may be on the downgrade. He knows that the saving habit is so deeply rooted even in radical Frenchmen that, although they may oppose capital in theory, they like to have it in practice. He also knows that the little capitalist of France has a deep-seated suspicion of the big capitalist. Hence the new premier will adjust his policy to the desires of the rank and file represented in the left half of the chamber.

Blum realized that he could not accomplish anything more by staying in power. He could have retained his place by fighting for it in the senate, which overthrew his cabinet early Monday morning, but he preferred to yield. He may even have refused to bow to the adverse verdict of the senate, as many of his predecessors did, on the ground that the upper chamber is not representative of the people's will, not being elected by popular suffrage. "The arrogation of power by the senate" is in some French circles as great an issue as the supreme court controversy is in the United States.

Chautemps could have been kept from power by Blum, whose prestige is undiminished. Many of Blum's followers insisted that he should do so. Instead of that, it was he who prevailed upon his followers to accept the new arrangement. Obviously, the agreement is for Chautemps to consolidate the gains of the Blum government, such as the forty-hour week, minimum wages, paid vacations, social legislation, public works on a large scale, monetary accord with the United States and Great Britain, state support of farmers and wine-growers, dissolution of semi-Fascistic groups, left-wing co-operation in the popular front, virtual alliance with England in diplomatic matters and neutrality in Spain.

Two Important Facts. The policy of the Chautemps government can be clearly seen in two important facts: Vincent Auriol leaves the finance ministry for the department of justice, and his place is taken by Georges Bonnet, who is leaving the United States tonight, where he has been ambassador of France since February. The new head of French finances is known as a moderate, who seems to be acceptable to the powers that have French economic life under their control. Auriol was a brilliant minister, but he was suspected, because of his Socialist background.

The other significant fact is the retention of Yvon Delbos as minister of foreign affairs, in spite of extremist pressure to have him ousted. Delbos has turned out to be a cautious statesman, who has known how to safeguard the interests of peace in the Spanish crisis, despite his personal sympathy for the cause of the Valencia government. He would have no use for a Hitler-Mussolini-Franco government in Spain, but the alternative of an international war he would like even less. Unless forced into a contrary course by the Fascist powers, he will keep France to a policy of neutrality.

BOMBERS LEAVE TODAY IN PUERTO RICO FLIGHT

NEW YORK, June 23. — (AP) — Three Martin bombing planes of the general headquarters air force will leave Mitchell field, Long Island, tomorrow for a training flight to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Colonel W. H. Frank, commanding the air corps unit at Mitchell field, said the big monoplane would spend Thursday night at Miami. Returning from San Juan Saturday, they will refuel at Miami.

SECURITY SCHISM NEARER SOLUTION, MURDAUGH AVERS

Deadlock in Three 'Most Serious' Cases Unbroken, However.

Problems surrounding Georgia's social security administrative set-up narrowed with state approval yesterday of two additional county welfare boards.

The day's negotiations, however, failed to break the deadlock existing in the three "most serious" cases, Welfare Director Lamar Murdaugh indicated.

The three counties—Clarke, Bibb and Fayette—have submitted local board members whom the state department declines to approve.

"No Further" Statement. Murdaugh declared he had "no further" announcements to make concerning the trio of counties he regards as presenting the most serious situation.

From Macon it was reported the state department had declined to approve R. S. Dillard as a member of the board. Dillard is superintendent of the Bibb county almshouse.

The chief cause of the tieup in Clarke county was nomination by the county commissioners of Tate Wright, campaign manager for Judge Blanton S. Fortson, one of the three candidates in the gubernatorial contest Governor Rivers won.

In a number of the differences the state board called upon local officers not to name employees of cities or counties.

In effecting a compromise on the Ware county board yesterday, Murdaugh said the officers of that county agreed to accept two other persons for county employees.

Membership Listed. The approved board will have as members: James B. Hurley, R. F. Owens, Dr. J. E. Pinland, Mrs. L. L. Sparrow Jr., and Mrs. R. C. Walker.

The other board approved yesterday was that for Coweta county: Ben L. Redwine, J. C. McCoy, Len Chambliss, D. C. Kersey and L. L. Hutchinson.

Murdaugh said the State Department and local officials were in accord in both instances.

He renewed an expression of confidence the set-up would be so arranged by July 1 that operation of the pension system could be started on scheduled time.

Murdaugh left Atlanta late yesterday for Albany to attend the American Legion convention, and is not expected to return to his office until late today.

Due to regulations all citizens must be given an opportunity to apply for aid before the federal government will participate financially in the program, there were indications he would take special steps to offer facilities to all counties by July 1 in event agreements can not be reached on personnel of local boards.

One avenue open to him, some sources said, was the combining of two or more counties into a single agency for administrative purposes, with the state bearing the cost share of that county without a board.

INSURANCE HEAD NAMED. PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—(AP) George A. Bowles, insurance commissioner of Virginia, was elected today to head the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

Pedestrian Control Traffic Light Planned

An experiment in traffic lights will be inaugurated in Atlanta, Mayor Hartsfield and Dewey L. Johnson, city electrician, announced yesterday.

Johnson and the mayor agreed to try out the "push button control" traffic light on Ponce de Leon avenue in front of Sears, Roebuck & Company with a view of installing similar lights in front of schools if it proves successful.

The new light in the middle of a block will show the "go" signal for motor traffic on Ponce de Leon avenue until a pedestrian wishing to cross the street pushes the control button. Then the motor traffic receives a "stop" light and the way is cleared for pedestrian traffic to cross. The light operates in a cycle of red, yellow and green lights similar to the ordinary traffic lights when the button is pushed. Each push of the button causes one cycle. When there are no pedestrians to cross the street, motor traffic is not hindered, Johnson said.

'Joe Louis' Delusion Costs Negro $27 Fine

A negro's delusion that he was Joe Louis, new heavyweight champion, cost him $27 in recorder's court yesterday morning.

Radio Patrolman R. F. Finley testified before Recorder A. W. Callaway that the negro, Haven Moore, of 60 Horton street, kicked him in the shins when he sought to arrest him early yesterday morning, saying, "Go way, boss man, I'm Joe Louis."

Previously, the officer said, the negro had been creating a disturbance in the neighborhood by threatening persons with a shotgun. He was fined on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct.

FAIR ASSOCIATION MAPS BEAUTY TEST

Southeastern Group Awarded Exclusive Franchise From National Contest.

Southeastern Fair Association has been granted an exclusive franchise for the winner of the annual bathing beauty contest to appear in the national contest at Atlantic City, Mike Benton, president, announced yesterday.

The contest here under the fair association's sponsorship will be held at Lakewood park July 4 and 5. The winner of this competition will compete for the title of Miss America at Atlantic City.

The Atlanta winner will receive a trophy, in addition to the free trip to Atlantic City and return. However, should the Atlanta winner become Miss America, she will receive a free airplane trip from Atlantic City to Los Angeles, where screen tests will be taken.

Entries for the Miss Atlantic contest must be filed with Virgil Meigs, fair secretary, on or before 9 o'clock on the night of July 2. A photograph must accompany the entry blank.

OTTO VON DINGLEHOEF FOUND DEAD IN ROOM. Otto von Dinglehoef, 53, insurance salesman, was found dead at about 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning in his room at the home of Mrs. Dahlia Connolly, 744 Pulliam street, where he had lived for the past seven years.

An inquest will be held at 10 o'clock this morning by Coroner Paul Donehoo, at the establishment of J. Austin Dillon. Mrs. Connolly said von Dinglehoef had not been seen since early Sunday night. He was found when she entered the room yesterday morning.

Von Dinglehoef had been employed by an insurance company here for the past three months. Relatives are being sought.

FARM INCOME INCREASES. WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today cash income of farmers last month was $610,000,000, highest for May since 1930, when the income was $719,000,000.

was pushed yesterday by the state attorney general in an effort to prevent the erection of buildings in air space above the W. & A. property in downtown Atlanta.

Attorney General Yeomans indicated the suit would be ready for filing this week end or early next week. Governor Rivers, from California, wired the attorney general to file proceedings to stop the construction of buildings in this space. Ben Massell, local real estate man, has a city permit to erect a one-story-and-mezzanine building over the tracks between Whitehall and Broad streets.

WILL IMPROVE STOCK.

IRWINTON, Ga., June 23.—(P) The Wilkinson County Live Stock Association has adopted a resolution urging the county commissioners to purchase four purebred beef type bulls for breeding purposes. The association voted to sponsor a fat hog show and sale here in October.

CURRENCY SUBJECT OF ECONOMIST HERE

Lawrence Dennis Will Address Chamber of Commerce Forum.

Lawrence Dennis, economist, diplomat, author and world traveler, will be the speaker at a forum luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce in the civic room of the Ansley hotel at 12:30 o'clock today.

His subject will be "Currency Management and the Gold Policy," and he will take up such questions as possibility of a business boom and inflation, American economic trends, and the influence of international currency policies. Dennis is a graduate of Har-

Sauce for Gander; Cop Given Ticket

Charges of reckless driving were placed against Radio Patrolman W. D. Nash following a collision between a police car and another vehicle Tuesday night at Harris street and Piedmont avenue.

He will be arraigned in recorder's court at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. J. H. Haslett was the driver of the other car, according to police reports. No one was injured in the collision, which occurred as Nash was answering a radio call.

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS IN TRINIDAD STRIKES

Clashes Between 'Workers' and Authorities Add New Casualties; 14 Dead.

PORT-OF-SPAIN, Trinidad, June 23.—(P)—The toll of Trinidad's strike riots mounted to 14 dead and 44 injured today as additional reports came from the interior of the island, crippled by a strike of more than 5,000 oil workers.

Clashes between strikers and armed authorities added new casualties to the list in the strike's fourth day.

Workers demanded increased wages on the basis that living costs have risen, but a government statement declared "advantage of the situation has been taken by agitators."

Marines from the British cruiser mounted machine guns to guard strategic points of the island and its rich oil fields.

The walkout spread to sugar plantations, but appeared to make no further progress in Port-of-Spain where stores reopened for business this morning.

Tumble From Auto Results in Resolution

Constitution Staff Photo—Hiers. Tommie Freeman, 5, of 84 DeFoor avenue, is shown here at home, where she would much rather be than in the hospital. She wanted air in the family car, turned the wrong handle, plunged from the machine as the door flew open. "Next time I'll let mother or grandmother open the window," she said.

Auto 'Window' Crank Opens Door; Child Escapes Death in Tumble

It was pretty hot yesterday morning and Tommie Freeman, 5-year-old daughter of Mrs. Ralph Still, of 84 DeFoor avenue, was sitting alone on the back seat of the car.

They were traveling "somewhere between 40 and 50 mile an hour" on the highway between Smyrna and Marietta.

When persons are hot they open a window, Tommie reasoned rightly. And she knew one of the shiny gadgets on the side of the car was turned to let down the window.

INQUIRY IS ASKED IN FLOGGING TRIAL

Group Urges Cone to Sift Kidnaping Case.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 23.—(P)—A committee for the defense of civil liberties in Tampa asked Governor Cone today to investigate the kidnaping trial of five defendants in the Shoemaker flogging case "to see if justice has been willfully obstructed."

The committee asked the Governor to request from the Florida supreme court "an early decision" on the appeal from four-year sentences given the five in trials last year.

The Governor also was requested to appoint a new judge, in place of Judge Robert T. Dewell, of Polk county, to hear other charges against the defendants, including indictments for second degree murder of Joseph Shoemaker.

Eleven persons were indicted on several counts, including kidnaping in second degree murder. Five Tampa policemen were tried and convicted of kidnaping. Their appeals have been pending in the supreme court here since last December.

MOTION IS DENIED TO ACQUIT HUNT

Girl Testifies Against Self-Styled 'Jesus' on Coast.

LOS ANGELES, June 23.—(UP)—Federal Judge Yankwich denied a motion to acquit John Wuest Hunt and three co-defendants tonight after pretty, 17-year-old Delight Jewett testified they had promised she was to be a "new Virgin Mary" in the cult of Father Divine.

The motion was made by white Hunt's negro attorney, Hugh Macbeth. The four are accused of violating the Mann act.

The girl described how she was taken into the cult headed by the New York negro who is called "God" by his followers, how she was brought from Colorado to California by Hunt and there seduced in his palatial Beverly Hills mansion.

Hunt, she said, styled himself "Jesus the Christ," and was west coast leader of the cult.

MRS. W. E. M'ALLISTER IS PAID LAST HOMAGE

Funeral services for Mrs. W. E. McAllister, widow of Captain W. E. McAllister, former superintendent of the Atlanta Confederate Soldiers' Home, were held Wednesday at Spring Hill, with burial in Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. McAllister died at the residence, 636 Woodland avenue. She was prominently identified with the affairs of the Ormewood Presbyterian church, and had been a resident of Atlanta since 1866.

YOUNGEST SOLO FLYER IS 12-YEAR-OLD BOY

NEW YORK, June 23.—(P)—Edward Somers, 12-year-old member of an air-minded family, was acclaimed today as one of the youngest pilots ever to fly an airplane alone.

Edward yesterday made his first solo flight 3,000 feet over Floyd Bennett field. His brother, Arthur, 17, and his sister, Andrea, 16, both student pilots, watched from the ground.

Their father is Representative Andrew L. Somers, a World War flyer.

U. S. DRY AGENTS FREED IN SLAYING

Family of Deputy Shot by Mistake in Raid Asks for Dismissal.

MARKED TREE, Ark., June 23.—(P)—Murder charges against two federal alcohol tax unit agents for the "mistake" shooting of a deputy were dismissed today on motion of counsel for the slain man and concurred in by the prosecution.

Prosecuting Attorney Ivy, of the second Arkansas judicial district, said the motion to dismiss charges against J. L. Kidd and J. R. Jones, the agents, was made by Fred Stafford, representing relatives of Deputy Constable Frank White, of Marked Tree. White died in a Memphis hospital about two weeks ago of bullets fired by a federal raiding party.

White was fatally shot when he and his partner, Deputy Jack McCullar, smashed a "moonshiner's" still near Marked Tree just as the federal agents arrived on the scene to raid the same still.

SOUTHERN WAGES ARE REPORTED UP

Survey Shows 8.1 Per Cent Increase in Last Year.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 23.—(UP)—Increasing wage levels and better working conditions were reported for the south today by the Southern States Industrial Council.

The average hourly rate of pay in the south is 46.3 cents an hour, with the average weekly wage $18.71 for a 40-hour average week, the council reported after a survey of one-fifth of all workers employed in all types of manufacturing plants in the south.

The council said the survey was made to refute statements that wages are unusually low, that hours are longer and that labor is being exploited.

The report said hourly wages had increased 8.1 per cent in the last year and 46.5 per cent from the depression low in 1932. Number of employed increased by 33,056 in the last year, the survey showed.

OFFICERS SELECTED BY ALABAMA C. OF C.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 23.—(P)—The Alabama State Chamber of Commerce today elected H. G. Dowling, of Tuscaloosa, as temporary secretary, chose 13 vice presidents, voted to enlarge its board of directors and ordered a county-by-county survey of industrial needs.

The organization decided to form county units, each of which will be under the direction of a manager.

SURVEY OF AIR ROUTE TO START NEXT MONTH

NEW YORK, June 23.—(UP)—Flights to survey various air routes across the Atlantic in preparation for establishment of regular air transport service between the United States and Europe will start early next month, President Juan T. Trippé, of Pan-American Airways system, announced tonight.

There will be an extra-curricular course on how to lift the eyebrows most effectively, how to use those dimples, how to and how not to wear clothes, and other matters which come under the head of conservation of natural individual resources.

The personality course will be followed by personality clinics at which summer session students can iron out personal personality perplexities.

Co-operating in the project are the departments of personnel, psychology, English, home economics, and physical education.

Student models, illustrations, materials, and diagrams will be used to impress the best ways of making the most out of the material at hand.

Wade Hampton's War Era Servant Dies, Aged 104

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 23.—(P)—Ransom Simmons, picturesque former negro slave who was said to have been a body servant to General Wade Hampton during the War Between the States, died here today at the age, according to his claim, of 104.

Ransom was a well-known figure about the statehouse grounds, usually frequenting the vicinity of the equestrian Hampton statue, and always was bedecked with medals and other souvenirs of the war.

He had a greeting for every passer-by and the nickels and dimes he collected from them sustained him during the last years of his life.

"Uncle" Ransom was an orator of sorts and at times made the statehouse grounds ring. When he orated, it did not particularly matter whether or not he had listeners.

His last most famous speech was just before President Roosevelt's re-election last November. He held forth all one morning, speaking and shouting through an improvised cardboard megaphone, first from the north steps of the statehouse and then from the south side. He then moved on to Main street.

The general theme of the speech was that the President and Governor Johnson were "my children" and that they would "save the country."

Contributions were made at the statehouse to pay for his funeral.

ATLANTA, GA., JUNE 24, 1937.

THE ARMY OF HEALTH ORGANIZES

There is now under way in Georgia a movement which may easily result in greater ultimate benefits to the people of the state than many more publicized efforts for their welfare. It is the increased activity for better public health.

Under the leadership of the State Department of Health, and with the enthusiastic cooperation of county and city health units, a determined drive is being pushed for improvement in sanitation, disease control and vital statistics information that will be reflected in future conservation of human, social and economic values.

Fulton county and the city of Atlanta are co-operating with the State Health Department in a factual survey of local health activities, to be conducted by the United States Public Health Service. This will result in better coordination of the health departments of the three governmental units, elimination of overlapping functions, and finer results for the time, money and effort expended.

The State Department of Health is providing special college training for the personnel of its various divisions. Medical officers, sanitary engineers and technicians have recently completed special courses in some of the finest training institutions in the country.

Particular emphasis is being laid on the work against several widespread diseases which exact fearful toll of sickness, disability and death in Georgia annually. Notable among these are malaria, tuberculosis and syphilis. It is essential, for any successful war against these modern plagues, that there be the fullest co-operation between all agencies of government.

Syphilis, in particular, cannot be controlled without the united effort of health authorities, local law enforcement agencies and the penal institutions. It is a disease which causes greater loss to the state, annually, than any other, with the possible exception of malaria. Efforts to lessen its ravages or to stamp it out entirely are useless unless there is a systematic campaign to search out and remove sources of infection.

It is a disease which may be spread through almost every form of human contact. The innocent suffer as well as the reckless. One person infected may ignorantly and indirectly cause the infection of dozens of others, both adults and children.

Every movement for more efficient co-operation between the units in the armies of health and for better training of the officers who lead the campaign against disease, means happier and more worthy lives for Georgia citizens of the future.

JOE FACES OPPORTUNITY

Joe Louis, negro, is now heavyweight boxing champion of the world. The former Alabama farm boy defeated James J. Braddock, Irish-American titleholder, before 65,000 people in Chicago.

The young negro holds in his hands today an unusual opportunity for service to his race. According to the reaction of his character to the acid test of the coming months he may either set a fine example or undo much of the splendid progress that the best men and women of his color have achieved.

Youth, naturally, looks with admiration and emulation at the individual who wins highest athletic honors. Physical prowess finds its greatest acclaim on the lips of the young. Youth, therefore, will watch the career of its heroes in so far as it can with the purpose of copying, in each detail, the habits and practices of the champion in order to follow, as closely as may be, in his steps.

The championship of the squared circle may not mean so very much in the progress of mankind. It is, after all, but a symbol of the individual's supremacy in an activity at which many dumb animals are superior to the human biped. Admittedly it requires fine physical condition and a high degree of trained skill, but the fighting man is always, at his best, at the mercy of the man with a brain.

Yet, today Joe Louis stands on a pinnacle which holds forth opportunity to serve the youth of his race finely and nobly. Every young negro boy in the land today looks to Joe as the symbol of his race's ability.

Joe Louis should not fail these boys. He can, by setting an example of clean living, modesty, honesty and proper regard for society's customs, lead thousands of young negro men to a better way of life and, thus, to better opportunity for legitimate personal improvement and service to their race and to the nation.

A lady temperance worker, home from a holiday abroad, praises Hitler because he does not drink. Der Fuehrer's only weakness is power.

A traveling salesman in the Black Hills of Dakota had to be dug out of a June snow—and try to work that one into an expense account.

A surgeon dispels worry by removing part of the sufferer's brain. For years it was known that ignorance is bliss, but nobody did anything about it.

AIR RIGHTS AT THE VIADUCTS

At the instruction of Governor Rivers, a friendly suit will be instituted by the state to determine its rights in connection with the proposed construction of stores above the state-owned railroad property and facing on the viaducts that span that property.

The proposal to erect a group of such stores on the west side of the Whitehall street viaduct has precipitated this action. Conflicting legal opinions as to the state's rights in such development make necessary a definite decision by the courts.

Construction of store units on the viaducts is the first step toward closing of the railroad gash which now inflicts a smoky scar across the face of downtown Atlanta. Elimination of the grime-creating, unsightly blemish is vitally important to the city's development. Retail stores to face the viaducts will have high rental value.

At the same time the state, owner of the railroad property in question, has a vital interest in any such development. Every interest of the state must be protected. The property is too valuable, too great an asset to Georgia, to permit any sacrifice of its worth.

If the state's title carries with it rights to the air spaces above the railroad tracks, it should be definitely determined. If, on the other hand, it is shown that the building of such stores or, even, the complete covering over of the property, will not reduce its value, the state will undoubtedly welcome an improvement which means so much to Atlanta and the pride of Atlantians in their city.

A friendly suit, such as the Governor proposes, is the only proper way to answer the problem. It should be immediately instituted and pushed to final decision without unnecessary delay.

POLICE SHOULD PROTECT, NOT IMPERIL

On Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, the hour when automobile traffic is at its peak, motorcycle policemen chased a liquor car in a section of the city always crowded with home-going motorists at that time of the day.

At the corner of North and Argonne avenues the pursued car crashed into another driven by an innocent citizen. As a result, Guy H. Marchman, an Atlantan businessman, today lies in the hospital with concussion of the brain and other injuries.

Regulations were issued months ago forbidding police chases of suspected liquor or lottery cars inside the city limits, where the wild pursuits endanger the lives of all citizens. The authorities should make careful investigation of the circumstances surrounding this incident of Tuesday. There must be no resumption of a police practice that endangers the lives of every person on the public streets.

The duty of the police is to safeguard citizens, not to endanger their lives and their property. In the North avenue happening, a small amount of whisky was found in the pursued car after the wreck. Such a capture is insignificant compared to the injury suffered by a law-abiding citizen.

There is no possible justification for reckless disregard of public safety in order to catch a suspected criminal. Certainly misdemeanor suspects should be run down in some other way than to cause serious injury, as in this case, to a citizen.

The Tuesday accident demonstrates the danger of police pursuits of suspected cars on the city streets and should serve as warning that there must be no resumption of the forbidden practice.

SIGNIFICANT SAFETY AWARDS

Five hundred Atlanta school children, members of the school safety patrol, have been awarded certificates of merit for this work by the Atlanta Motor Club.

No acknowledgment of public service has been more deserved than these certificates. The school safety patrols, co-operating with the police traffic department, have been largely responsible for the splendid record of safety on the streets achieved by Atlanta's school children during the past year.

The pupils who filled the role of traffic directors and guardians for their classmates not only took their work seriously, but developed into expert apostles of safety.

The certificates they have received will be of continuing value to themselves and to the city, for the boy who has received such recognition is given inspiration to continue his work for safety all through life. Each of the 500 will grow to manhood imbued with the principles of proper conduct on the streets, whether as pedestrians or motorists, and will thus become 500 exemplars of safety always.

The awards provide another illustration of the basic importance of training in youth if coming generations are to reduce the ghastly toll of traffic carelessness which has wiped a constantly spreading red smear of horror over the past quarter of a century.

That both sides in Spain think they are saving Spain is funny, but not very funny.

Editorial of the Day

INVESTMENT IN EXILE?

(From the Detroit Free Press.)

According to reports from Nanking, General Yang Fu-cheng, co-leader of the Siam mutiny last year, has been given $1,000,000 in Chinese money and told to take a trip around the world. Yang, one of those who held Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek prisoner for 13 days last December, is said to have a commission from Chiang to investigate military and economic conditions in the United States and Europe. But it is understood that Chiang neither expects nor desires reports from the traveler who plans to sail late in June for Los Angeles on the first stage of his journey.

All this sounds very much as if Yang were being sent on a ride, instead of being taken for one. Somewhere on his way around the world it may just be possible that Yang will find a place that looks as if it might be healthier for him than his native land. Well supplied with funds for "traveling expenses and pocket money," Yang might settle down with a somewhat longer life expectancy than might be his in China.

If this is true, everyone's "face" will be saved at a cost less than that of rebellion or civil war, and Occidentals can learn a lesson in civilized suavity from their Oriental betters.

MEDIATION IN A PACKED SITUATION

The mediation committee which the President has appointed to try to settle the steel strike is an excellent and distinguished committee, and all who wish to see the restoration of industrial peace, on a just basis, will wish it well. But the board will have to operate under serious handicaps. For it will have to try to establish justice in a situation which is rigged and rigged by the authority which it represents. Namely, the government. Justice cannot be dispensed by one of the parties to the struggle, and we have gotten ourselves into the position where exactly this is happening.

The issue can be reduced to something so simple that it seems childish; whether Mr. Girdler is willing to sign on the dotted line instead of making a verbal agreement. Stated thus, the position of Republic Steel seems preposterous. But that is altogether too simple to be true. It is not the issue. The issue is whether the signature, once given on both sides, will be valid before the law for both parties. Unfortunately, there is overwhelming evidence that a signature given by the employer must be kept while a signature given by the CIO need only be kept if convenient.

General Motors made an agreement with the CIO some months ago, at the beginning of this whole fight. Since that agreement was made General Motors has had 180 strikes, or an average of one a day. The CIO itself acknowledges, by inference, that things are not working out as well as they should because it is trying to discipline its own members. But discipline is, and will be, impossible under the terms of the vast Wagner labor relations act and the way it is being interpreted. Because it has become an act for promoting the organization of the CIO with governmental aid, not as it was originally designed, an act for assuring industrial workers the right to organize freely through representatives of their own choosing, even if they choose an organization not affiliated with the CIO.

Mr. Hopkins' statement is apposite to the discussion. There is no issue of wages or hours in this fight. The fight is for the control of steel by the CIO. The strike throws people out of work, and the relief administration is prepared to take them on. The CIO is not an impoverished organization, incapable of maintaining its own workers through a strike; at least it was prosperous enough to contribute around $500,000 to the President's campaign. So we have a situation where a wealthy and powerful labor organization, which is at odds with another wealthy and powerful labor organization, is fighting for control over the basic industries, with the assistance of the government, which at the same time appoints a mediation board to establish justice on the basis of a one-sided labor relations act. Not thus will justice, as we have hitherto understood it, be obtained.

Nor will such justice be obtained until the basic impression is removed that the Wagner labor relations act is being used as a means for reinforcing a certain kind of labor organization, and at the same time laying the foundations of a new political party.

The issue has nothing to do with whether or not Mr. Lewis is right in his conception of what is the best form of labor organization. The issue is democracy versus coercion. The issue is whether we are to have justice administered in the field of industrial relations in harmony with the Bill of Rights, or whether we are to have justice interpreted arbitrarily, the way it is interpreted under all the administrative acts as the agent of the CIO we shall have the second kind of justice. And as long as it so acts, it will do no real good to appoint an impartial commission. They will not have a chance to be impartial.

All along the line we are getting very curious interpretations of what constitutes democratic rule. The repeated assertion of the administration and its apologists that it "has a mandate" is typical. It is the same interpretation of democratic rule that the CIO has now taken over. By hook or by crook, the narrow eyes of industrial coercion, dark hair, once told your correspondent that he thought he might have an ancient Mongol strain in his make-up. Hitler and little Joe also learned that Schmeling was a fine example for the Nazi youth and he was taken up in formal way by the politicians of Berlin.

Now the Nazi government may even resort to diplomatic usage to compel the American public and press to acknowledge Schmeling as a champion, for the reich is the first state in the world so hard put for its leaders as to regard the title as a valuable national asset. Though the championship has been almost monopolized by American prizefighters from the time of the first recognized champion, John L. Sullivan, Washington always has regarded the championship as a private and not too distinguished honor.

However, if Schmeling's victory over Louis is to be insisted upon, a similar though somewhat less pressing argument could be made against his claim on the ground that he never did revoke the knockout he suffered at the hands of Mr. Baer. It goes into involvements, and deep thought and calm counsel will be required to avert international complications. Unfortunately the state department has no acknowledged experts on the matter of prize fight succession, tradition and law, but no doubt many well informed authorities can be recruited from Cauliflower alley who would be glad to serve for the stipend of an under-secretary plus the regulation equipment of striped pants and sugarcrop cost.

Hitler and it is no easy matter because Herr Hitler Little Joe and little Joe, if they insist on making an issue of it, find that they are up against the law of a proud American state, namely Illinois, whose official prize fight commission, having its own seal and life powers, decreed that the title should be at stake in last night's ceremony and that the winner should be champion of the world. Maybe Hitler and little Joe want to start something with the state of Illinois.

It has been estimated that after Braddock has paid off his man, the prize money, lawyers and the cellanous help and showered down his income taxes calculated in high brackets on one large fiscal year, he will have only $66,000. However, a little over two years ago he was earning only a few dollars a day in public work and work to support his wife and children. (Copyright, 1937, for The Constitution.)

GOOD MORNING

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

A London street sweeper lay very ill in his dismal little room in an attic. A relative, hearing of his illness, called to see what might be done for the lonely sufferer.

"Has anyone been to see you?" asked the relative.

"Yes, Mr. Gladstone," answered the sick man.

"Which Mr. Gladstone?"

"Mr. Gladstone, the prime minister," said the sick man.

"But how came he to see you?" asked the visitor, not able to understand why the prime minister of Britain should visit a street sweeper.

"Well," said the invalid, "he always had a word for me when he passed my crossing; and when he was not there, he missed me. He asked my mate where I was, and when he heard I was ill, he put down my address on his notebook and so he came to see me."

"And pray what did the prime minister do when he came to this place to see a poor street sweeper of London?"

"Why, he read to me out of the Bible, and then he prayed!"

"And the relative marvelled, and we marvel, but Mr. Gladstone would not have had anyone make any to do over his visit to the poor man—it was what he wanted to do, for Christ's sake. Once asked for his favorite poem, the prime minister is said to have answered:

"Others, Lord, yes others—
Let this my motto be:
Help me to live for others,
That I may live like Thee."

Fair Enough

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Champion is CHICAGO, June 23.—The new World Champ has a very weight champion is champion of the world with the small, but very confusing exception of Max Schmeling, the official state gladiator of Nazi Germany. Mr. Schmeling knocked out Louis in 12 rounds a year ago and public opinion may either regard him as champion or create for him some special title to acknowledge his superior rank.

The situation is not exactly new in the prize fight business as there have been many champions in various classes who had previously been beaten by other fighters whom they preferred to ignore after winning their titles. The difference in the present case is that Schmeling has been taken up officially by Adolf Hitler and little Joe Goebbels, the state minister of propaganda who suddenly appeared on the scene only after he had beaten Louis in New York. Up to that time they had ignored him and, so far as official recognition was concerned, had distinctly disowned him for he had previously been knocked out by Max Baer.

The defeat was bad enough for a patriot aspiring to wear the insignia of the spinning wheel on his bathrobe and to dunk pretzels with Herr Hitler at official beer nights in Berlin, but the Jewishness of Mr. Baer was a tremendous humiliation to the reich. Then, too, when Schmeling came over to fight the champion American sport journalists and Herr Hitler, himself, thought he would be soundly beaten for he had shown nothing to indicate otherwise. Herr Hitler and little Joe Goebbels wanted no part of a man who had been knocked out by a Jewish person and who seemed pretty sure to be flattened by a colored party, so they withheld recognition of Schmeling until the returns were in.

High Cheeks, Promptly there— Narrow Eyes covered that he was a pure Aryan, although Herr Schmeling, pointing to his high, narrow eyes, said they were coarse, dark hair, once told your correspondent that he thought he might have an ancient Mongol strain in his make-up. Hitler and little Joe also learned that Schmeling was a fine example for the Nazi youth and he was taken up in formal way by the politicians of Berlin.

He Doesn't Compete With Social Climbers If He Knows He Is a Prince

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

The rich man's son feels secure. He may abuse his advantage and prove himself unworthy of his good fortune; but whatever his conduct may be and whatever punishment he may deserve, there is always in the back of his mind the comforting conviction that nothing bad can happen to him. His father's wealth and standing are a shield and a wall to protect him from all harm.

Of course he may and frequently does become snobbish, arrogant and boastful; but abusing a good thing doesn't make it less good, and the point is only that his awareness of a protector keeps his chin up and his mind free of all anxieties.

A similar feeling of security warms the heart of a young woman who knows herself beloved.

Though accustomed to poverty, years of earning her own living and carrying her own burdens have weakened her courage and changed bright hope to drear anxiety. So her spirit soars in the knowledge that her burdens are assumed by a man who is strong and fine and true, and she speaks from a full and grateful heart when she says: "I feel so safe."

Duties and cares and annoyances continue; but nothing unpleasant seems to matter, for part of her mind constantly remembers that a good man's love makes her present and future secure. These are homely illustrations, but they serve to explain in some measure the absence of fear and anxiety in humble people who walk with God.

The reason for their assurance is found in the words, "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee." The word "stayed" has several similar meanings, but in this instance it means "fixed" or "fastened."

There may be little peace for those who think of Him once a week, or night and morning, but perfect peace rewards them whose minds are fixed on Him.

They have their cares and burdens, their weaknesses and faults, as all people have; but they feel secure and safe and content, for being safe in His love makes them aware of the peace of God which passeth understanding, and the world's riches and honors can add nothing to what they have. ## Shift in Europe.

NEW YORK.—The intrinsic value of Stalin's assurances that the blood-purge in the high-command of the Red army has enormously strengthened the Soviet union, is shown to be mere nervous twittering by events. Great Britain no longer considers Russia a first-class power. In France a strong movement has arisen for peace and understanding with Germany and the chief of the German general staff is this week a guest of the commander-in-chief of the French forces.

It is said that this gentleman, General Beck, has brought with him from Berlin a complete "file" showing the correspondence and the negotiations that have been carried on over a length of time between the Russians and the German Reichswehr. Most of the correspondence deals with the exchange of war materials, but as Mr. Philip, correspondent of the New York Times in Paris adds, it is clear that the Russian generals could not have carried on this correspondence and these negotiations without the knowledge, and even the consent, of their government.

As a matter of fact, it is perfectly obvious that the Tukhachevsky and his colleagues in entertaining a liaison with the Reichswehr, acted upon specific instructions from Stalin himself. This was broadly hinted in this column last week.

And as was stated then: the reason for the secret trial and execution of the high command was that if ever the dealings with the Reich should become public property, Stalin would be utterly discredited in the eyes of the world revolutionary movement. For it was Stalin who accused the Trotsky of the heinous crime of having conspired with Germany. He set the Communist press all over the world howling against "the traitor, the vile dog, the counter-revolutionary scoundrel Leon Trotsky." The very hysteria in the tone of the accusation showed that there was something wrong with it.

Stalin, the Traitor.

Now it is established that Stalin was the traitor, not only to Russia but also to France. He was secretly trying to exchange a German alliance for the agreement with France. To this end he used Tukhachevsky. Finding that Hitler's intransigence could not be budged, and fearing that the secret would leak out, he had the generals killed. Political assassination was the weapon he used.

But now the secret is out anyway. The Russian state is reeling under the blow. The Communists in France, who no longer know what to think or do, frantically cling to the Popular Front in which they are no longer desired. Stalin has killed that party, too, as effectively as he killed the generals. I would not be surprised if the present regime in Russia came to a fall before winter.

TAX SYSTEM LESSENS STABILITY

Editor Constitution: It seems almost unbelievable that the present administration should hold to scorn certain individuals regarding taxes, when, as a matter of fact, the secretary of the treasury admits the tax laws should be strengthened so as to avoid certain weaknesses.

Further, the secretary reports, that due to a lack of personnel, they have only been able to investigate certain special returns, namely, the larger ones. Here again, without making a comparison, the department is willing to come to certain definite conclusions, condemning one group against the other.

Anyone who has had direct contact with the government in having their tax returns checked by the special agents will find that the government itself takes advantage of every technicality and condemns its citizens for the very things it is doing daily.

But, if we are to make comparisons, and if the public is to be informed about our citizens, in fairness, we should be sure that in criticizing, we criticize so that every citizen will understand and not be misled as to any particular class—whether they be rich or poor.

Under our present tax system, we are weakening the very foundation of our financial stability. We are more than sharing the wealth because we are actually dissipating it, with out having an opportunity of replacing it. In many cases the success of this country depends upon the compounding of our wealth, for as a result of the wealth being made there is so much that reacts to the betterment of every citizen, whether he be rich or poor.

The administration should investigate why unemployment is not decreasing and why we are not balancing the budget, for this is far more important to the country as a whole, than the behavior of certain individuals, who may or may not be guilty of tax indiscretions, as the case might be.

NORTH GEORGIA IS DELIGHTED

Editor Constitution: I read with a great deal of interest Judge Frank A. Smith's invitation through your paper to the people of Georgia; that they visit this section of our state in connection with the official opening of the new Atlanta-Clayton highway.

My purpose in writing this letter is to express to you our appreciation for your interest in this section of Georgia. In Sunday's Constitution you caused news articles to appear and Monday appeared an editorial in conjunction with the invitation of Judge Smith.

We are delighted. We appreciate your interest and assistance more than we are able to express.

NORTHEAST GEORGIA FOR HEALTH AND PLEASURE

Editor Constitution: You render a valuable service to all sections of Georgia in your editorial "Rabun Invites Georgia," wherein you sponsor the "Northeast Georgia Holiday" promoted by Rabun county officials.

Rendered more accessible and distance reduced many miles by this new Atlanta-Buford highway, this northeast section of Georgia will be visited, for the first time, by thousands of Georgians.

Among the many attractive places to be found, none excel Mountain City in beauty of mountain scenery, cool air and attractive homes and hotels.

This little hamlet, at an altitude of 2,386 feet, is the highest town on the Tallulah Falls Railroad and the state highway, between Cornelia and Franklin, N. C.

Situated on Rabun Gap, the peak of the watershed between the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic ocean, where cooling breezes continually blow, the section nearby and in Mountain City offers every attraction that tends to mental and physical betterment. Come to northeast Georgia now for health and pleasure.

SECURITY PAYMENT GIVEN 117 IN STATE

Lump-Sum and Death Claims Only Are Being Paid by Government.

One hundred and seventeen claims for lump-sum and death payments under the national social security act had been filed in Georgia through yesterday, it was announced at Atlanta offices of the Social Security Board.

The announcement indicated that, through May 31, a total of 5,390 claims had been filed throughout the country, of which 45.2 per cent were death claims.

Joseph R. Murphy, manager of the Atlanta field office, said 22 claims were filed in Georgia last week and nine more this week.

It also was reported that out of all claims filed in the United States, only 43 had been disallowed. "Until January 1, 1942, the only claims that are payable are those involving lump-sum and death payments, amounting to 3 1-2 per cent of total wages received from covered employment," Murphy said.

"After that date, the major program of monthly benefits to qualified workers in commerce and industry will begin. Benefits are based on wages received for services in covered employment from the beginning of 1937 to age 65, and the wage record in the worker's social security account will be used as important evidence in determining benefits."

RULING BY YEOMANS CUTS STATE PLANS

Loss of Chain Store Taxes Curtails Eleemosynary Building.

A ruling issued yesterday by Attorney General M. J. Youmans may sharply curtail building plans for the state eleemosynary institutions.

He held that all income from the state chain store tax would have to constitute a part of the regular appropriation to these institutions and not go to them in addition to this regular allocation.

Officials, under the impression income from the chain store taxes would be in addition to the $2,000,000 provided by the legislative appropriation, had planned to use the entire income from that source for new buildings.

Director Lamar Murdough, of the welfare department, said a special fund of $30,000 will be available for erecting a cold storage plant at the Milledgeville hospital and that the cost of installing new kitchens and dining rooms at the same institution will be paid partly from the appropriation available July 1.

The attorney general's ruling caused abandonment of plans for a general building program, he said.

REFERENDUM VOTE IS SET ON TUESDAY

College Park To Decide on Governmental Form.

Approximately 1,200 College Park residents are registered for next Tuesday's referendum on the proposal to adopt city commission form of government for the municipality, G. W. Harris, College Park mayor, estimated yesterday.

Registration closed Monday. Three polling places, one in each of the wards, will be open from 7 o'clock in the morning until 7 at night, with Mrs. Charles Center, Miss Elva Crenshaw and G. P. Wright as managers.

At present the city is governed by a mayor and six councilmen. The proposed new setup would establish in their place a commission of three members, one from each ward, one of whom will serve as mayor, and would place the operation of the municipality in the hands of a city manager to be designated by the commission.

CENTRAL AVENUE BUILDINGS SOLD

May Brothers Pay $30,000 For Two Structures.

For a consideration said to be $30,000, two large business buildings at 70 and 72 Central avenue, between the viaduct and Decatur street, and adjoining the John B. Daniel building, were purchased Wednesday by Armand May, Atlanta capitalist, and his brother, Ben May, of Mobile. The property was bought from William A. Speer and Katie Speer.

The buildings are five stories and basement, containing 45,000 feet of floor space and are among the substantial structures along the street. The buildings are vacant at present, but the new purchasers expect to spend between $5,000 and $10,000 in improvements before offering them to tenants. However, Mr. May states he is in contact with parties to whom he thinks a lease may be effected as soon as the structures are ready.

THIS MORNING

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES II.

"To know the right is not to do it."

Educating people on the importance of preserving their forests is not enough unless there goes with the education a character and a vision to overlook immediate interests in favor of long ones. The newspapers of the south, keen as they are for development of a southern newspaper industry with pine for its raw material, have been unanimous nevertheless in stress upon protection of the pine forests of the south. Many of them have insisted that the protection requires new and strict laws against so-called clear-cutting, and it seems to this column that the time has come for all of them to take this position, and for the forestry officials of the states and the federal government to back them up in it. Paper making in the south is becoming a tremendous thing. To make sure that it is a triumphant rather than a tragic thing, forest preservation measures comparable in scope to its own scope are necessary.

A paper industry tends to destroy pine forests as a lumber one does not. The paper-makers of the south are enlightened men, for the most part, and in their own and the south's interests are undoubtedly anxious to maintain proper cutting practices. But like all competitors, they are bound by what some outlaw among them does and by the cost advantage he obtains. Admitting that there are too many laws on too many subjects already, as Dr. Herby told us the other day in opposing additional state forestry laws, the preservation of great natural resources is so obviously and traditionally a subject for law making that we do not see how anyone can object to it. And no natural resource is more precious to the south now than its pine.

Another element to be considered in determination against destruction of our southern forests is the price paid by the paper makers for pine. From many quarters there come to this column complaints of a price so low that it encourages careless and wasteful cutting practices. One thing that has brought the paper industry south, of course, is the naturally lower cost of timber, but this is a matter of degree, and a cost too low to make good cutting practice worth while or to represent any adequate return for owners, is hardly to be called natural.

The second most important economic job for the south today is the development of its great natural resources. The very first job, however, is the preservation of these resources against exploitation and waste. In the case of paper making it should not be difficult to serve both jobs beautifully. As an economic proposition it is possible to make paper here, we are well advised, with fair prices paid for timber and sound conservation practices, and still have a great advantage in the cost over paper makers elsewhere.

Therefore those who, in the public interest, insist upon such prices and such practices, can be certain that they are harming no private interests. They can make their demands with knowledge that they act in the best ultimate interest of everybody.

Colonialism, in the unhappy sense of the word, is the removal of a land's natural wealth without regard to what becomes of that land and its people. Regionalism, on the other hand, is the development of a land's natural wealth in a way that preserves and increases it to great benefit of its people. The paper industry here can be carried on along colonial lines or regional ones. It is to the everlasting glory of the newspapers of the south that they are giving their great voice to the regional ideal.

JULY 4 IN ATLANTA IS CENTENARY DAY

First Railroad Terminus Stake Driven Here on July Fourth, 1837.

July Fourth, when the nation celebrates its independence, will have added significance for Atlanta, Mayor Hartsfield announced yesterday in designating July 5 as a holiday for city employees.

The mayor pointed out it was on July 4, 1837, that Stephen Harriman Long drove the railroad terminus stake that resulted in Atlanta being located where it is. Hartsfield recalled also that it marks a "semi-anniversary" for himself. Hartsfield took office as the city's chief executive January 4, just six months ago.

Though city workers will get a holiday for Independence Day July 5 (because the Fourth is on Sunday), city councilmen will have no rest. The fifth is a regular meeting day and City Attorney Jack Savage yesterday ruled the session could not be postponed. Hartsfield yesterday signed the new 1937-1938 tax ordinance and the new finance sheet amendment, which were passed by council Monday. He said he had not yet approved a resolution providing 20-day vacations for police and firemen.

BELATED CHRISTMAS GREETING IS RECEIVED

RURAL POWER RATE CUT BY COMMISSION

New Schedule Will Apply to Electrification Units of State.

Reduction in the standard rates for the Georgia Power Company to charge rural electric associations was announced yesterday by Commissioner Hamilton McWhorter, of the Public Service Commission.

The new rate schedule follows: First 150 kwh. of demand per month, 1.66 cents per kilowatt hour. Next 20,000 kwh. per month,

1.11 cents per kilowatt hour. Next 30,000 kwh. per month, 0.833 cents per kilowatt hour. All consumption above this amount, 0.666 cents per kilowatt hour.

McWhorter said the schedule was arranged in conferences among the company, the commission and a rate expert of the R.E.A. Charges are made against the association for the electricity it purchases for distribution to members.

The association fixes the charges against the members.

McWhorter said the same rates will be available to any city purchasing electricity for redistribution under contracts having higher rates.

The power company will enter individual contracts with the various associations on technical problems concerning distribution of the electricity and installation of transformers.

The last piece of complex, weather-making machinery is bolted in place. Final rigid tests and inspections have been made. And today, after an expenditure of well over a million dollars, months of day and night labor—even a battle with floods—44 L & N trains are ready to move safely along thousands of miles of track—completely air-conditioned from stem to stern!

Today, outside you swelter in the summer sun. Inside our air-conditioned cars you thrill to the cool, fresh air of spring. And they're quiet, too! Add the courteous service of friendly trainmen, fine meals of old south flavor, restful seats, comfortable beds, fares that are lower than ever before, and—well, neighbors, you just can't help but say "Your Home Sweet Home on Rails" is the most completely satisfying form of travel anyone can use.

Come often, then, won't you? Be our guests—and spend delightful hours in our safe, modern "home" we've built for you.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.

Safer—than your own home In 19 years, the L & N has carried nearly 200 million passengers and not a single passenger has lost his life in an L & N train accident. No wonder you feel completely at ease in your "Home Sweet Home on Rails!"

TRADES FEDERATION TO BACK GRAMLING; SALES TAX OPPOSED

Nance Resolution Condemning Bibb Sheriff Tabled by Vote

The Atlanta Federation of Trades will accept Charles B. Gramling as president and Rufus Johnson as secretary-treasurer of the Georgia Federation of Labor and pay per capita tax to the group headed by them, under a ruling last night by J. A. Harper, president of the city federation, describing a letter directing this course as being "orders of the American Federation of Labor."

The body voted also to table a motion to concur in a resolution, presented by the A. Steve Nance group of the Georgia Federation of Labor, which would condemn Sheriff Hicks, of Bibb county, for his recent attacks on WPA. The resolution was adopted a week ago by Nance's executive board.

On motion of W. Cicero Kendrick, member of the house of representatives from Fulton county, the federation voted unanimously to oppose a general sales tax for Georgia "under any circumstances."

Kendrick, in offering his motion, warned that "efforts will be made to saddle a sales tax on the people of Georgia, the oncoming extra session of the general assembly."

"Labor has always opposed a general sales tax," Kendrick said. "You can do nothing else."

The letter ruled as being "or-

King Will Attend Masonic Meeting

LONDON, June 23.—(AP)—King George VI will make Masonic history next Wednesday when he will attend a special grand lodge of the United Grand Lodge of England to be invested as past grand master.

It will mark the first occasion on which a British sovereign has been present at a Masonic meeting.

United States Ambassador Robert W. Bingham will be invested as past grand senior warden.

ders" was signed by Johnson and it was attached a letter from William Green, president of AFL, and a copy of resolutions by the executive council of AFL adopted at its recent Cincinnati meeting. The resolutions declared the group headed by Gramling and Johnson to be the "true" Georgia federation, affiliated with AFL.

Lengthy discussion, including some spirited exchanges, followed a motion to accept the communications and comply with their instructions and a subsequent motion to table the original one. The tabling motion blocked further debate, but Harper settled the issue by declaring a motion unnecessary, since the city federation was a subordinate body to AFL and subject to its orders.

ALIEN BAN DEFERRED. WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—The house immigration committee deferred action indefinitely today on legislation to put immigration from other countries of the Western Hemisphere on a reciprocal basis.

LEWIS GROUP CALL SYMPATHY STRIKE

situation in the 28-day-old steel strike remained "unchanged."

The widespread labor controversy has already cost an estimated $12,000,000 and 12 lives.

In Washington Secretary of Labor Perkins announced: "Federal mediators are making very fine progress toward a solution."

Nevertheless, the prime matter in dispute—the question of signed labor contracts—remained a stone wall blocking the path of the federal peace-seekers.

Compromises Discussed. The peace board continued to discuss possible compromises, as it has for five days now. But there was no indication that the steel men were at all amiable.

If the peace board has a well-defined course of action worked out, its members have kept it secret. So far, Charles F. Taft, chairman, has insisted that board is working on a day-to-day basis, with the results of each conference determining what should be done at the next one.

Steel executives stood unflinchingly in their refusal to sign on the dotted line with John L. Lewis' CIO, and there was not the faintest indication that the CIO generalissimo would yield an inch.

The seven-state strike front, where more than 100,000 men have been set idle in the "show-down" clash between Lewis and the four independent steel companies—Republic, Bethlehem, Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube—developed a new "hot spot" at Warren yesterday.

Smouldering for three days—since Judge Lynn B. Griffith granted Republic an injunction restraining picket activities—the steel strikers' resentment boiled to the surface yesterday morning when the newly-arrived national guardsmen escorted non-strikers from the Republic plant "where they have been besieged since May 26."

Swiftly CIO leaders sent out emergency calls to 28 union locals. The leaders claimed that the sympathy movement involving, they said, both CIO and AFL workers would make "15,000 men idle in Warren today."

The unionists, they said, are employed in 12 industrial plants and include steel, telephone, electrical and WPA workers.

Arrest of 6 Ordered. Meanwhile, in another move in the many-angled strike controversy, United States Commissioner W. J. Taub issued warrants at Akron, Ohio, for the arrest of six men charged with "interference with United States mails."

President Roosevelt himself kept in almost constant telephonic communication with principals in the dispute.

Four representatives of the National Labor Relations Board arrived in Ohio to investigate charges filed on June 18 by the CIO against the steel companies.

The charges included alleged discrimination in the discharge of union employees, the use of "armed thugs and gunmen" in strike-breaking activities, and alleged "collusion" with county authorities to interfere with picketing.

Freight Movements Resumed. Freight movements at Warren, halted by strikers for the past 10 days, were resumed at the Republic Steel plant under the protection of the national guard troops.

The guardsmen also "conveyed" workers leaving the Republic plant for the first time in 28 days.

80,000 DECREASE SEEN IN FARM POPULATION WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—The farm population declined this year for the first time since 1929, the Agriculture Department said today.

Its economists estimated 31,729,000 persons lived on farms at the beginning of the year, a decrease of 80,000 from January 1, 1936.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—Chairman Hill, Democrat, Alabama, of the house military affairs committee, asked today for legislation to authorize a $21,460,000 construction and rehabilitation program at army posts in the United States, Hawaii and Panama.

Chairman Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, of the senate military affairs committee, recently introduced a bill asking a similar authorization, the two bills, however, are different in many respects.

Amounts needed for various posts until the Hill bill include the following: Fort Benning, Ga., $180,000. (Water system, improvements to pumping and filtration plant.) Fort McPherson, Ga., $108,000.

GOVERNOR RETURNING TO PUERTO RICO POST WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—Governor Blanton Winship, of Puerto Rico, said today he was leaving tonight by plane for Miami, Fla., from where he will board a plane tomorrow for San Juan, Puerto Rico.

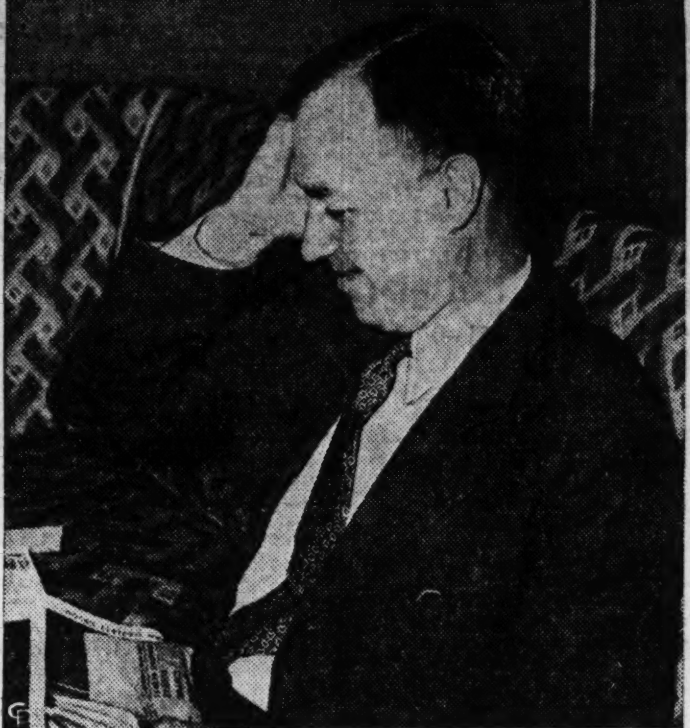

Winship said he would return to Washington after 10 days to conclude negotiations for several important Puerto Rican projects now pending.

COUNTESS COSTANTINA WEDS GERMAN BARON JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 23.—(AP)—Countess Frieda Costantini, of Paris, France, was married to Baron Carl Gottlieb Von Seidlitz, of Selicia, Germany, here today.

Dr. Malcolm Lockhart performed the double ring ceremony in the church of the Good Shepherd. Countess Costantini was given in marriage by her son, Herman Franch Whitton, of New York.

Count Von Strachwitz, of Selicia, Germany, acted as best man. Others in the bridal party included:

Mediating a Steel Strike Is No Bed of Roses

Mediating the steel strike is a difficult job, from the appearance of Charles F. Taft, of Cincinnati, chairman of the federal steel strike mediation board, pausing for a moment between conferences of the board in Cleveland. Taft told reporters he was optimistic of an early settlement.

Film Test Will Help Smooth Way Of Talented Folk Into Screenland

Studios Generally Barred to Those in Film Capital, With Greater Chance to Crash Gates Existing for Those Sent From Other Cities.

Hollywood, magic capital of make believe, mecca of twinkling lights, fabulous salaries, famous persons, stories of the few who have skyrocketed to fame, is also a city of broken dreams, of hopes dashed to earth.

Studios that spend hundreds of thousands of dollars exploiting new stars, building glamorous names, dispatching talent scouts to make new finds, strangely enough are barred to the ambitious new arrivals who come seeking fame and fortune.

Beauty Is Cheap. One may enter some obscure cafe for a noon-day meal and there find he is waited on by girls of almost breath-taking beauty.

Girls from New York, Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans, Tacoma. Girls who want beauty contests in their home towns, girls who were starred in home-town theatricals—girls who found that Hollywood was unimpressed.

Motion picture studios have found by costly experience that beauty does not create a star, that home-town acclaim does not put a name in lights, that appearances in real life and on the screen are two entirely different things.

It is small wonder that the studios of Hollywood are harder to enter than any other type of business house in the world.

The big directors do want talent, they must have new names, new stars. The public is fickle, a nonstop today may be a nonentity tomorrow. New players climbing higher must take the places of those who have gone.

The Finished Product. The Constitution-sponsored movie talent hunt will be awaited eagerly in the movie capital. Here on a film before their eyes in a few minutes will be presented the result of weeks of hard labor in Atlanta. It will be a finished, professional quality film. Thousands of dollars of expense and weeks of preparation will be saved the movie producers.

They will not have to estimate the worth of the applicants. They will see this before their eyes. The Atlantans and Georgians who possess the necessary talent for film careers will start out in this film.

In review before the Hollywood directors and producers there will pass beauty contest winners, character actors and actresses.

POSTS IN GEORGIA TO PROFIT BY BILL House Measure Calls for Army Rehabilitation Program.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—Chairman Hill, Democrat, Alabama, of the house military affairs committee, asked today for legislation to authorize a $21,460,000 construction and rehabilitation program at army posts in the United States, Hawaii and Panama.

Chairman Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, of the senate military affairs committee, recently introduced a bill asking a similar authorization, the two bills, however, are different in many respects.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER TO ELIMINATE DEFICIT BOSTON, June 23.—(AP)—Richard J. Cullen, president of the International Paper & Power Company, announced tonight that a meeting of shareholders had voted by a "large majority" in favor of a plan for a change in capitalization of the firm.

The change, as explained by Cullen, was designed to eliminate a deficit of approximately $19,000,000 and, if the directors so determine, to permit resumption of dividend payments.

400-Pound Bear Slain After Escaping Trap SANFORD, Fla., June 23.—(AP)—A party of men headed by Gus Schmah today killed a bear weighing about 400 pounds.

The beast, blamed for killing many hogs in this section recently, was caught in a steel trap some time ago but escaped.

TWO MEN AND GIRL HELD IN SLAYING

Sequel to Senate Probe of Harlan Coal Mines Seen in Ex-Deputy's Death.

HARLAN, Ky., June 23.—(AP)—County Judge Saylor said tonight a preliminary investigation of the "ride" killing of former Deputy Sheriff Wash Irvin led him to believe it was a sequel to the senate civil liberties committee's recent investigation at Washington of Harlan county's deputy sheriff system.

Irvin, 33, who was under protection of a civil liberties committee subpoena, was found shot to death on Pine Mountain, 15 miles northeast of here, early today.

Two former deputy sheriffs were held tonight on murder warrants issued by Judge Saylor. Perry G. Noe, of Wallins Creek, was apprehended at his home late today. Allen Bowlin was jailed earlier.

Irvin, Bowlin and George Lee resigned yesterday as deputies following the dismissal of Lee Flenor as a deputy.

A 19-year-old girl who gave her name as Sally Smith, of Knoxville, Tenn., also was taken into custody and held for questioning. Judge Saylor said the girl admitted to being Irvin's body slumped over the steering wheel of an automobile on a mountain road.

Irvin had been shot three times. Chairman La Follette, Progressive, Wisconsin, said at Washington the civil liberties committee would inquire into the killing of Irvin to determine whether a formal investigation was warranted.

The committee pointed out that Irvin, like other senate witnesses from Harlan county, was kept under subpoena after the inquiry into Harlan county labor conditions was completed.

The committee continued the subpoenas in force as a protection to some witnesses who feared retaliation for their testimony about the coal operators.

Answering Your Questions. Just what does Hollywood want in the way of personalities? What are the requirements to tread the path that leads to movie stardom? Those are difficult questions. They will be answered at 7:30 o'clock tonight by C. T. Burgess, executive manager and talent scout of Astral Productions, Hollywood. He will speak over Radio Station WATL.

BACK FROM BEACH Driving Contest Winner Was Given Trip.

Mrs. Jo King, of Marietta road, winner of the safe driving contest for women recently sponsored by The Constitution and Ford dealers in the Atlanta area, has returned with her guest, Mrs. Sally Heibert, 1370 North Morningside drive, from a week's stay at Myrtle Beach, S. C.

While in Myrtle Beach Mrs. King and Mrs. Heibert were guests at the Forest hotel, popular resort center, the stay there being a part of the award tendered Mrs. King as winner of the contest.

JACKSON TO DEDICATE NEW FEDERAL BUILDING JACKSON, Ga., June 23.—Congressman Emmet Owen, fourth congressional district, has been made chairman of the dedication program for the recently completed new federal building here. Dedication exercises will be held July 3.

The new building will house the postoffice, agricultural and other federal offices for Butts county. Agricultural officials have been invited to attend the dedication.

A barbecue will be served at noon at Jenkinsburg, five miles from Jackson.

ANOTHER BOARD RULE PROPOSED BY BREWER Rule to prevent members of the board of education holding office in the Parent-Teachers Association will be introduced at a meeting of the rules committee tomorrow afternoon by Chairman Ernest Brewer, he said yesterday.

Brewer said he would fight to forestall board members using offices in the P-T-A to "further personal ambitions." He plans also to seek a rule banning nepotism in the school department.

TAMMANY CLUB ISSUES NEW OFFICIAL ORGAN Initial issue of The Atlanta Democrat, official organ of the Tammany Club of Atlanta, was ready to go into the mails yesterday. Bernard Litchee is editor.

Samuel A. Massell, president of Tammany, is listed as publisher. Other staff members are W. E. Hopkins and E. W. Long, associate editors, and Roy C. Smith, business manager.

ARKANSAS TO SEEK RETURN OF $367,354 WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—Representative Wade Kitchens, of Magnolia, Ark., said today he is helping draft a bill to restore $367,354 collected under the Society Security law last year to the Arkansas state treasury.

Kitchens said that amount was paid into the United States treasury by Arkansas labor and industry before the state became eligible to share in the federal old age assistance system.

MAN'S DEATH HINTED AS PAY-OFF SHOOTING MIAMI, Fla., June 23.—(AP)—A man identified by police as Emanuel Casso, 38, was shot and killed in the negro section today in what Detective Chief Scarboro said probably was an argument over a bolita payoff.

Lieutenant Barker identified Casso, who was fined May 3 in city court after being convicted on charges of possessing lottery tickets.

Business Progress In Recovery Parade

Large Gain Develops In Agricultural Regions.

NEW YORK, June 23.—(AP)—Predictions of a big gain in trade in the agricultural regions this year have to date been supported by various dependable indices.

Among the latest confirmatory happenings, business analysts pointed out today, was the Agricultural Department's report showing cash income of farmers in May to be the highest for that month since 1930.

New Record Established By Sears Roebuck Sales. CHICAGO, June 23.—(AP)—Sears Roebuck & Co., reported today gross sales for the fifth period from May 22 to 18 totaled $49,097,436, an increase of 20.6 per cent compared with the corresponding period last year.

Sales for the first five periods of the current fiscal year which began January 30 totaled $213,346,125, an increase of 20.1 per cent compared with the corresponding 1936 period.

Both of these figures were new Sears records for the periods.

Earnings of Union Bag May Reach 1934 Peak. NEW YORK, June 23.—The Union Bag & Paper Corporation is expected to earn around $600,000 in the first half of 1937, according to an estimate made by Alexander Calder, president. This would compare with profits of only $387,391 for all of last year, and almost duplicate a peak profit of $682,405 for the year 1934, Mr. Calder said.

The profit in the first half of this year was made with one unit of the company's Savannah mill in operation.

REDFERN RUMORS SCORED AS 'HOKUM' 'Just a Racket To Get a Trip,' Airmen Declare.

NEW ORLEANS, June 23.—(UP)—M. R. Ayers, back in the states tonight after flying for eight years in Peru, said that tales of Paul Redfern being alive in South American jungles after ten years are "hokum—a racket" for expeditions.

Redfern took off from near Brunswick, Ga., on a nonstop flight for Rio de Janeiro and was last seen heading over the jungles of Venezuela. Repeated searches for him have failed.

Ayers, who flew mining equipment over jungles bordering the Matto Grosso, which Redfern intended to span, said "No white man could have lived if he dropped into those (South American) jungles."

"This story that Redfern may still be alive is all hokum," said Ayers. "It's just a racket aviators and others have been pulling to get a trip down there to look for him."

Besides jungles so dense "you couldn't swing a machete," Ayers noted that head-hunting tribes were another factor against Redfern's escape from a crash.

Ayers is from Arizona. His wife's home is in Minnesota.

MAYS LOSES APPEAL ON BOOTLEG CHARGE One of the first men ever to be pardoned by former Governor Talmadge yesterday lost an appeal to the state supreme court for a new trial on a bootlegging conviction.

Jeff Mays, the bootlegger, was convicted in May, 1936, in criminal court of Fulton county for possession of whisky on Whitehall street and was sentenced to serve 12 months on the gang.

Mays, when under a three-year sentence several years ago, was pardoned by Governor Talmadge on payment of a $300 fine.

KIWANIS MAP RURAL PROGRAM

Georgia Delegates Make Plans at Convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 23.—(AP)—Georgia delegates to the 21st annual convention of Kiwanis International planned their 1937-38 urban-rural relation program yesterday.

W. Hill Hosch, of Atlanta, was named chairman of the agricultural committee for Georgia, and Dewey Johnson, of Augusta; Allan Carter, of Madison; J. T. Wheeler, of Athens, and C. B. Ingram, of Fort Valley, were named as committee members.

Agricultural activities for clubs will include diversified farm projects, dairying and pure-bred stock raising, sponsoring grain and livestock shows, promoting county fairs and 4-H Club work, and holding of forums for discussion of farm and land use problems.

F. Trafford Taylor, of St. Boniface, Manitoba, was elected president. H. G. Hatfield, of Oklahoma City, was re-elected treasurer without opposition.

PREMIER, ROOSEVELT DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Van Zeeland Is Guest on Presidential Yacht; Two Talk in Private.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(P)—President Roosevelt and Paul Van Zeeland, Belgium's youthful-looking premier, canvassed general world problems today during a leisurely cruise on the Potomac river.

Whatever conclusions they may have reached were not disclosed. The awning-covered after-deck of the presidential yacht Potomac gave them utmost privacy. They were generally expected to resume their talks late tonight in the White House after a state dinner honoring the Belgian statesman and Madame Van Zeeland. At Mount Vernon the yacht was anchored in mid-stream and Van Zeeland and his wife were taken ashore in the President's gig, which flew the American and Belgian colors. The premier placed a wreath of white lilies and glad-tied with Belgian colors, at George Washington's tomb.

BELGIAN PRINCE DIES.

BRUSSELS, June 23.—(P)—Prince Ernest de Ligne, 80-year-old father of Prince Eugene de Ligne, counselor of the Belgian embassy in Washington, died in a hospital today of injuries received when knocked down by an auto at a street crossing.

DRUID HILLS PLANS TO BUY FIRE TRUCK

Matthews Empowered To Act by Residents.

Residents of Druid Hills and the Emory University sections met last night in Druid Hills High school to discuss fire boundaries and other details in connection with creation of a fire department for their communities.

C. A. Matthews, DeKalb county commissioner, who called the meeting, said a fire truck will be purchased and various zones laid out. He said he will report progress being made, from time to time, to the residents who voted him authority to take care of the matter.

Creation of the fire department was authorized through passage of a constitutional amendment in the June 8 election.

3 Million Coptics Consider Joining Roman Church

ROME, June 23.—(P)—Sources close to the ministry for Italian Africa reported today that Abuna Kyrillos, head of the Coptic church of Ethiopia, was considering entering the Roman Catholic church and bringing his 3,000,000 Coptic followers with him.

The Abuna returned to Rome today from Venice, where yesterday he visited the Basilica of San Marco and recited a lengthy prayer at the tomb of the evangelist St. Mark.

The foreign office in Cairo reported June 19 the Abuna was being held a virtual prisoner in Venice because of differences with Premier Benito Mussolini.

The report said Il Duce wanted the Abuna to declare the independence of the Ethiopian Coptic church, which has been a branch of the Egyptian church since the fourth century.

ORDER IS RESTORED AFTER BELGIAN RIOT

6,000 War Veterans Protest Amnesty Bill for Those Convicted of Treason.

BRUSSELS, June 23.—(P)—Riot restored order in Brussels tonight after King Leopold received a delegation representing 6,000 war veterans protesting an amnesty bill which would pardon Belgians convicted of World War treason.

Earlier in the day, police and firemen battled veterans near the royal palace who demanded that the King dissolve parliament and submit the amnesty provision to a referendum.

Twenty policemen and civilians were injured.

YALE IS DONATED BIG CANCER FUND

Hull Receives Honorary From School.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 23.—(P)—James Rowland Angell, delivering his valedictory as president of Yale University, announced today receipt of a large fund for medical research into the causes and origin of cancer—"the greatest gift yet made to Yale" for scientific purposes.

The announcement was made at the alumni luncheon closing the 236th commencement at which the university conferred its highest honor, an honorary degree of doctor of laws, upon Secretary of State Hull and decrees in course upon 1,147 students.

Dr. Angell withheld the amount of the gift, presented by anonymous donors, but the New Haven Register said it learned reliably it was in the neighborhood of $10,000,000.

SISTER OF POET NASH IS DIVORCED AT RENO

RENO, Nev., June 23.—(UP)—Mrs. Eleanor Nash McWilliam, socially prominent in New York, and sister of versifier Ogden Nash, was awarded an uncontested divorce today from Culver B. McWilliam.

She charged extreme cruelty. The court approved an agreement dated June 22 settling property rights and arranging custody of their three children, Gwendolyn, 19; Eleanor, 17, and Alexander, 13. They were married April 4, 1916.

Visitor From England Goes for Hamburgers

"I like hamburgers, women's clothes, and gangsters, the best of anything in America," says Miss Mary Lake, of Essex county, England, visiting this country for the first time in the home of Miss Effie Butner, of Wieuca road.

Hamburgers, Clothes, Gangsters Intrigue English Visitor to City

Learning the difference between a hamburger and a hot dog furnished a major gastronomic thrill for Miss Mary Lake, of England, who is visiting Atlanta, she confessed yesterday as she expressed a variety of opinions on things American.

Miss Lake, a young woman who hails from Essex county, is on her first visit to "the States" and is the guest of Miss Effie Butner, of Wieuca road.

"I'd always thought that hamburgers and hot dogs were alike," said Miss Lake in an interview. "But since arriving in Atlanta, I've learned they are quite different."

And then, she added, enthusiastically, "Hamburgers are the most delicious food I've ever tasted."

Praises Women's Looks. Miss Lake expressed equal enthusiasm for American women also. She thinks they dress extremely well and that they top their English sisters in poise, personality and general attractiveness.

"Wealthy women in England have beautiful clothes, but here every woman looks as though she were rich. I am constantly being impressed with the chic with which they wear their clothes," she said.

"American women are famous for their art in makeup, and, since visiting here, I can see why they have the reputation for being the best made-up women in the world. Every girl one sees looks well, just beautiful."

Continuing on the subject of American women, Miss Lake compared them with the gardens of England, saying:

"The gardens of England are more beautiful than in America, but the women here wear clothes that remind me of beautiful gardens. The materials and colors of their dresses are nearer to the loveliness of flowers than anything I can think of."

Likes Southern Cooking. As for American food, Miss Lake likes southern cooking, and revealed that she didn't know the names of half the things she's eaten here.

However, their tastes meet with her approval. American food is much richer than English, she observed, with more seasoning, cream and dressing.

On the obverse side of the American picture, Miss Lake, although fascinated by American shops, believes women clerks in stores in this country are not on a par with women clerks in English stores.

"Here, the clerks are so different that one almost has to say, 'Please let me buy this,'" she said, "while in Britain, clerks are so insistent that one almost has to say, 'Please don't make me buy this,' to not get waited on."

Would Meet 'Gangster.' Miss Lake plans to remain in the United States until August. Following her visit here, she will spend several weeks in New York. During her stay, she said she hopes to meet—casually, of course—"a real American gangster."

(Miss Butner has promised her a ride in a police car, as part of her Atlanta adventure.)

"And when I get home," she concluded, "I hope to have the answers to the two questions most frequently asked me by Americans: 'What is the population of London?' and 'what is the price of gasoline in England?'"

Incidentally, coming over, Miss Lake discovered she was the only passenger on an American boat who knew the words of "The Star Spangled Banner," while most of the Americans knew the words of "God Save the King."

GREAT SEA STORY AT GRAND TONIGHT
"Captains Courageous" To Open Run at 8:30 O'Clock.

One of the great sea stories of modern literature, Rudyard Kipling's thrilling saga of the Gloucester fishermen, comes to Loew's Grand theater tonight at 8:30, with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's picturization of "Captains Courageous," with Freddie Bartholomew, Spencer Tracy, Lionel Barrymore and Melvyn Douglas in the leading roles.

For the first time in his screen career Freddie Bartholomew plays a wholly American boy, a wide departure from any previous role. As Harvey Cheyne he is the pampered son of a millionaire who has never known the meaning of work and worthwhile effort. Bound for Europe on a super-liner he falls overboard off the Newfoundland banks and is picked up by a fishing dory manned by Spencer Tracy, the latter playing the part of Manuel, a Portuguese fisherman.

This role, the most colorful that Tracy has yet had, rivals even that of the priest in "San Francisco."

The boy is taken to the fishing schooner "We're Here," captained by Lionel Barrymore as Captain Disko. His tale of being a millionaire's son is attributed to the shock of having fallen overboard. He is put to work and gradually his regeneration begins. The hardy, honest Gloucester fishermen make a man of him.

Mickey Rooney, teamed with Freddie Bartholomew in "The Devil Is a Sissy," again appears with him in "Captains Courageous" as Dan, the captain's son. The large supporting cast playing the schooner's crew includes Charley Grapewin, Jack Larue, John Carradine, Walter Kingsford, Donald Briggs and numerous others.

Victor Fleming is credited with the direction of "Captains Courageous."

BAKER'S WILL CITES SONS' OBLIGATIONS

New York Banker Leaves Fortune Estimated at $100,000,000.

NEW YORK, June 23.—(P)—George F. Baker Jr., one of the world's wealthiest men, who died May 30 leaving an estate worth possibly $100,000,000, said in a will filed for probate today that he wanted his two young sons "to realize that they are inheriting not wealth alone, but great obligations and responsibilities."

Eventually, upon the death of their mother, George and Granville Baker, not yet of age, may be entrusted with all of the vast fortune not bequeathed to charity or taken in taxes.

They will inherit, also, their father's, a tradition of stability and public confidence first established by their grandfather through 68 years as president of the First National Bank.

To charity, Baker bequeathed a trust fund of 7,500 shares of the bank's stock, valued currently at $15,000,000, but he specified that none of it should go to propaganda or lobbying agencies and that the principal should be given away if it becomes subject to taxes.

GUILD TO PRESENT 'MARY THE THIRD'
Younger Generation Comedy Opens Run on July 6.

In its sixth successful month of operation, the Atlanta Theater Guild, allied with the Atlanta Federal theater, under the Works Progress Administration, announces Rachel Crothers' brilliant comedy, "Mary the Third." The play, scheduled for opening on July 6, presents an entertaining discussion of the modes and manners of today's younger generation.

"Mary the Third" provides excellent opportunity for the introduction to Atlanta audiences of several talented young people home from college and dramatic schools and also offers to the younger contingent an amusing summary of themselves.

It is the purpose of the Theater Guild in Atlanta to encourage and develop dramatic talent and to establish in the community a permanent civic theater. In accordance with this purpose the organization invites all individuals interested in any phase of the living theater to communicate with Paula Causey at the Atlanta theater, and urges all civic-minded persons to membership in the Guild. The fee entitles members to choice seats at all productions of both the Atlanta Federal theater and the Theater Guild. "Mary the Third," directed by Mrs. Causey in association with Paul Carpenter Jr., offers a production comparable to such Guild successes as "The Drunkard," "The Pursuit of Happiness," and "The Torchbearers."

HAPPY DAYS AHEAD
Farley Foresees Better Times Than Ever.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., June 23.—(P)—Postmaster General Farley predicted today that "good times, the like of which we have never seen, will soon be here."

Dedicating the recently enlarged and remodeled Fredericksburg postoffice, built in 1911 on a lot once owned by George Washington, Farley declared President Roosevelt had lifted the nation from "despair," which he said was induced through loss of confidence in leaders who followed a "do nothing" policy prior to 1933.

Referring to current industrial strife, the postmaster general told the crowd of 2,500 that "here and there we have some disturbances, but I am confident they will shortly be cleared up to the satisfaction of us all."

HEART'S SON NAMED PUBLISHER OF PAPER
NEW YORK, June 23.—(P)—Hearst newspaper interests announced tonight that Arthur G. Newmyer, who has been publisher of the New York Evening Journal, has been appointed an assistant general manager of the chain and that William Randolph Hearst Jr. will be publisher of the re-organized Journal and New York American.

The younger Hearst has been publisher of the American, which announced last night that its daily paper would become a part of the Evening Journal and the Morning Mirror.

Victor Fleming is credited with the direction of "Captains Courageous."

BROTHERS TO OFFER NEW COTTON PICKER
MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 23.—(P)—John Rust, co-inventor with his brother, Mack, of a mechanical cotton picker, said today a new picker which will detach the cotton in half the time required by present machines probably will be demonstrated this fall.

Rust returned to Memphis this week from the Argentine where he said the cotton picker has made a favorable impression on South American planters. Of the new picker, Rust said it "will do away with the necessity of having to go over the same row twice in order to get all the cotton."

JAPAN EXCEEDS LIMIT IN COTTON SHIPMENTS
MANILA, P. I., June 23.—(P)—Customs figures disclosed today that Japan has shipped 6,000,000 more square meters of cotton piece goods to the Philippines than the limit set in a two-year gentlemen's agreement with the United States.

The agreement expires in two months. It allowed Japan 80,000,000 square meters, 6,000,000 less than total shipments so far, including transshipments through Hong Kong.

INSTALLMENT XXX.

Duke smiled in answer. He could not tell, of course, that Carol had already told him she loved him. The fact she was angry with him now did not disturb him in the least. He knew that Carol had been speaking the truth that day on the train.

"And Gramp," said Duke, "when I'm your grandson, I'm going to fix up Brookdale for you. Remind me, if I forget."

"D'you mean—get me a stud?" he asked excitedly.

"Two of 'em, at the least."

"Aw, you're nuts," said the old man. "Anyway, Carol won't marry you! She ain't got sense enough."

Tip raised his hand as if in defense.

"Just supposing," he said as if suddenly timid—"I said, just supposing—Lightning doesn't win. You'll lose an awful lot of dough, wouldn't you?"

"Plenty," said Duke cheerfully. "I'd have to spend the rest of my life paying up."

"Then if Lightning loses, how about the wedding bells?"

"The wedding bells will ring out. You don't seem to be quite bright tonight, Tip, my boy. I'm telling you Lightning is not going to lose. And now, my friends, I'm off—can't keep that sucker waiting. It's me for the biggest bet ever placed on a race in this or any other burg—and don't try to contradict me, Gramp, by your stories of Diamond Jim Brady and Bet-a-Million Gates and those other old-timers. What I'm going to get from Madison will make them look like pikers. By the way, Gramp, as you seem to have demolished everything eatable or drinkable on that table, want to ride out home with me?"

The old man groaned as if he were in pain.

"And see all those Newport dunces clattering up the house?" he said in disgust. "You must think I'm as crabby as that granddaught-er of mine. Run along, sap. Get that best you're boasting of from a sucker, if you want to. But I'm telling you for the last time before you head for destruction—Moon Ray's going to win."

Duke chuckled him under the chin.

"Perhaps you are a little crazy, Gramp. Let that pass. Did I ever tell you—if not, I tell you now—I love you!"

The old man twitched his face away and glared at Duke, but there was a little gleam in his eye which showed his deep affection for him.

"Scram," he said.

Duke paused at the door and gave a smart salute to the two men he was leaving.

"I'm not one to forget old friends, however humble," he said mockingly. "If this time tomorrow—or any other time for that matter—I ever try to high-hat you, just remind me that once we were equals. Millions—mine—won't make any difference."

"Scram, I said!" roared Grandfather Clayton.

In the lobby, Duke and Fritzle almost bumped into each other.

"Duke," cried Fritzle, "how's for going up to Kiffie's room for a quick one? And then, perhaps another one or two? He said he couldn't stand the noise down here. But he'll be glad to have us barge in on him."

"No can do," said Duke. "Don't try to stop me. I'm off to Brookdale, to steam up my chump."

"Steaming him up for plenty, I hope."

"All he'll go far. Seen Dixie around?"

"Just a while back. He wouldn't be layid, either. Said he had to turn in early—suppose that's one reason he's such a good rider."

"You can depend on him to make in condition, anyway. Give the devil his dues, as it were. But—otherwise—well, I'm glad we got his signature down on that piece of paper."

"Another thing one has to say for Dixie is that he never pulls a race."

"That's not decency—it's vanity."

Fritzle was looking at Duke with a shrewd eye.

"Tell me, Duke," she said and her voice, given her usual tones, was rather soft, "you look like I never saw you look before. Is it all because you're going to make your pile? Isn't there something else, maybe, on your mind?"

Duke threw back his head and laughed a merry laugh.

"Fritzle, you're a mind-reader—maybe I'd better say a heart-reader. As one person in love to another one in the same blissful condition, I don't mind telling you—"

"Seen the light at last, have you? I've been wondering when you would. I've known for ages you and Carol were that way. Some heart-to-heart talks with you two saps to get you together. Well, Romeo, run along."

She watched him across the lobby and go out the door and there was a tender look on her face. All the world was smiling on her—tomorrow, when Lightning came in, she would be rich and famous and she would marry Kiffie. The fact that Duke and Carol were to be happy together added to her joy. In her generous way, always wishing to share happiness, she decided she must go to Kiffie at once and tell him the news.

But Kiffie was not glad to see her. She ran into his room, her arms outstretched in love and joy. She stopped suddenly. There was never seen before. It was not only anger she saw, but hatred. What could have happened in the little while since she had seen him, to make him look at her like that?

At first he would not speak to her. Her questions—was he ill, had he had bad news, had she in any way offended him—received only silence for answer. But Fritzle was a determined woman. She loved Kiffie and she knew he loved her. Whatever happened to make him act in this manner, she knew could be made right, if only she could get him to speak. After what seemed an eternity to her, he did speak.

"I've torn up the contract with Dixie," he said.

Fritzle for one wild moment thought Kiffie must have gone crazy. But he had spoken quite calmly. For another moment, she was afraid she was going to faint for the first time in her life. But she was no weakling. She must find out everything. She must do something.

"Why?" she asked in a voice that said she would take nothing but the truth and all the truth for an answer.

"Because I discovered you and Duke were double-crossing—planning to scam to Europe together, on what you'd take tomorrow. I can keep you from going if you want to—but you'll go broke, if you do. And perhaps Duke won't."

"Who told you that pack of lies?" she demanded.

Kiffie retreated into his obstinate silence again. Fritzle thought intently for a moment.

"Was Dixie up here?" she asked.

There was no answer in words. But Fritzle, always clever, was made triply so by her horror at what had happened. She read the answer to her question in Kiffie's face.

"I might have known it," she said. "There's nothing I'd put past Dixie. But, Kiffie dear, how could you go for a story like that—a cooked-up yarn from a double-crossing rat! You are so honest yourself—"

There was such sincerity in her voice, her whole manner, that Kiffie covered in a corner like a pup which has been beaten. Now it was not obstinacy which kept him from speaking; it was horror and shame.

"Don't you see, dear?" she said, in a voice from which anger had gone and only compassion was left—"It's all perfectly plain. Carol and Madison must have offered him more money to ride Moon Ray and he had to get you in any way he could, to break the contract. What a gag!—me go to Europe with Duke! Oh, my Gawd!"

She made a leap for the telephone.

"Duke! I've got to tell him!"

"He ain't come yet, Miss O'Malley," said Rosetta, in answer to Fritzle's frantic query when she got Brookdale on the telephone. "You say he's on his way? Then you just rest yourself easy. I'll answer the bell myself and he won't be in the door before I tell him he's to call you right off."

"Be sure now, Rosetta," insisted Fritzle. "It's very important—to everybody."

"I waited until Rosetta had repeated her promise before hanging the phone on the hook and turning to Kiffie.

"This is going to shoot the devil out of Duke's plans," she said, "unless Rosetta sees him before Carol and Madison get at him. Me go to Europe with him! Would he roar at that one? Don't you know he's crazy about Carol and she is about him?"

Kiffie's voice was plaintive when he answered her.

"But lambee, if Carol is in love with Duke, why would she double-cross him—and us—by taking Dixie away?"

Fritzle looked at and spoke to him as one does to a child.

"Women are queer ducks. Especially when they're in love."

"Men, too, I guess; because when Dixie told me that about you and Duke, I fell for it."

"Never mind, Kiffiekins," said Fritzle loyally. "You were a fool to swallow that one, but I know it was because you love me."

"But look what I've done," moaned Kiffie. "Maybe you won't marry me now—I couldn't blame you if you didn't. But it would break my heart."

"I'm going to marry you, Kiffie," Fritzle promised, "but I tell you this: I'll never let you out of my sight for a single minute. Another snake-in-the-grass like Dixie, might side up to you and the Lord only knows what kind of a cock-and-bull story he'd tell you and you'd fall for it."

"If you really will forgive me—and marry me, I promise I'll never be jealous again as long as I live," Fritzle squeezed his hand.

Continued Tomorrow.

THE STORY OF BASEBALL

IV—Interesting Facts.

The early rule about 21 runs being enough to win a baseball game was changed, and the teams hands or fingers were "burned" by fast balls. In 1875, a Boston ball player named Charles Waite put a flesh-colored glove on his left hand. He was ashamed to use it, because he thought people would call him a "sissie." They did make jokes about his "soft hands."

A. G. Spalding, a pitcher, later put on a kid glove, cutting the back of it away to let the air in. This did not help enough, so he put a thin pad inside the glove, covering the palm of his hand. Still later came the well-padded glove which was called "the pillow mitt."

The wire mask to protect the catcher was invented about 65 years ago. A baseball-playing doctor was a pioneer in using it, and a newspaper account tells us, "The players 'guyed' him for wearing it. They said it was 'babyish' and cowardly to wear a protection to the face." Present-day catchers are not afraid of being called "babies." In addition to masks, they often wear chest-protectors and shin guards.

At an early date, it was learned that a pitcher could throw a ball so it would curve before crossing the plate. For years after the discovery, there were debates as to whether the wind was the only thing which could make a ball curve, but the players knew the curves were made by the spinning motion of the ball.

Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson are two of the famous pitchers in baseball history. Mathewson won many games for the New York Giants by pitching his "fade-away" drop. This curving ball was a puzzle to batters, and many of them were struck out.

COURT BILL NEARS DEBATE IN SENATE; FILIBUSTER HINTED

Fight Next Week May Rival Historic Battle Against League of Nations.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(P)—Tension increased in Capitol Hill tonight after Democratic Leader Robinson, of Arkansas, announced that debate of the Roosevelt court bill probably will begin next week. Opposition leaders said they personally had communicated to Robinson a warning that the bill, or any compromise increasing the size of the supreme court, would encounter an indefinite filibuster.

Declines Discussion.
The Democratic leader refused to discuss the legislative prospects for the legislation, or the progress of compromise negotiations. He merely told newspapermen: "It is quite probable the court bill will be brought forward the latter part of next week."

Some legislators have predicted the fight will rival the historic nine-month debate on the League of Nations.

It is almost five months since President Roosevelt surprised congress with his message asking authority to name a new justice to the supreme court for every justice past 70 who declined to retire.

Democratic Ranks Split.
Since that time, a furious nation-wide debate has raged almost continuously. Democratic ranks in the senate have been split as they have not been split since the party took control of the congressional machinery in 1933. Talk of a permanent realignment of parties has resulted.

In view of this situation, SUNBURN SUFFERERS

Fireworks Outlawed For Atlanta July 4

Sale or discharge of fireworks in downtown Atlanta in connection with the July 4 celebration, will be outlawed city officials warned yesterday.

Council has adopted an ordinance prohibiting sale of any sort of fireworks or exploding them in the inner fire limits. Police will enforce the law.

Alderman Roy E. Callaway and Councilman Frank Wilson, who led a fight several months ago to ban the sale and discharge of fireworks anywhere in the city limits, plan to reopen their battle, it was said yesterday. Figures compiled by the National Association of Mayors this year showed more people killed by fireworks celebrating the Glorious Fourth than were slain in the struggle for independence.

Announcement of conferences this week end on Jefferson island, in Chesapeake bay, between the President and Democratic members of both houses has aroused widespread speculation.

NORTH CAROLINA BAR CONCERNED OVER COURT

ABOARD THE S. S. RELIANCE, June 23.—(P)—Francis E. Winslow, of Rocky Mount, was elected president of the North Carolina Bar Association at a business session late this afternoon.

A resolution adopted asked association members "to contemplate with deep concern" President Roosevelt's supreme court reorganization proposal.

The session followed a morning meeting and a round of entertainment engaged in by the attorneys and members of the North Carolina Press Association, which took the Bermuda cruise with the bar organization.

Mother Drops Dead After Kissing Daughter

BARI, Italy, June 23.—(P)—After living 20 years at Los Angeles, Mrs. Lucia Panzani came back to Bari today with her husband, Carlo Panzani.

She kissed her mother, Signora Fiore Turi.

Then Signora Turi fell dead at her daughter's feet.

This Will Be Yours--For Winning Soap Box Derby

Boys, this miniature motor-powered auto is yours if the judges declare your soap box racer the best built one entered in the 1937 Atlanta Soap Box Derby. It's now on display in Loew's Grand theater lobby and, when this picture was taken, Prospective Entrant Billy Boman was admiring the little racer. On the left is S. W. Harris, president of the NuGrape Bottling Company, which is donating the prize. On the right is H. O. Rogers, vice president of the company. In the background is the racer which will be awarded by Loew's Grand to the Atlanta champion. The annual Soap Box Derby will be run on Northside drive July 24.

BOYS RUSH TO FILE IN SOAP BOX DERBY

store at 3:30 o'clock July 20. At this time sound pictures of the 1936 National Soap Box Derby finals will be shown, as well as a film explaining how wired photos are transmitted.

A Southern league baseball will be given each heat winner in the finals of the Atlanta Derby by the Atlanta Baseball Corporation.

Racers compete in heats of three. All drivers who reach the finals will receive sweaters from J. M. High Company. A $55 bicycle will be given the second place winner of the Atlanta race by Harold Hagan, president of the Pig 'n' Whistle. Piggy Wiggy stores will award prizes to winners but they have not been announced.

Prizes previously announced are a miniature motor-driven car by the NuGrape Bottling Company to the boy constructing the best all-around soap box racer; a complete clothing outfit—suit, tie, shirt, socks, shoes—from Davison-Paxon Company. The Gulf Refining Company will operate the service pits at the top of the hill at Soap Box Derby Downs.

Cosponsors of the derby in neighboring cities are: Athens, the University Motor Company and the Banner-Herald; Griffin, the Copeland Chevrolet Company and the Griffin News; Gainesville, the Eagle and the Martin Motor Company.

AUGUSTA POLICE HEAD HANGS FIVE PORTRAITS

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 23.—(P)—Colonel R. L. Chambers Sr., director of the Augusta police department, today had hung on the walls of the recreation room at police headquarters the first five of ten oil portraits which he is giving the city.

The ten portraits are of Mayor Richard E. Allen Jr., Police Chief C. J. Wilson, Fire Chief John B. Kennedy, Police Captain George R. Folds, Civil Service Commissioner Z. Sweeney Sikes, Gaspard Halbert and Paul M. Thompson, former Commissioner R. Allen Elliott and Frank J. Miller Sr., and Colonel Chambers himself.

The portraits are being executed by H. A. Brownson, of Chicago, an artist of national reputation.

FISHING LICENSE LAW WILL APPLY ON JULY 1

Anglers fishing without a license were warned yesterday by the State Wild Game Department strict enforcement of the license law will begin July 1.

Game inspectors thus far have offered to sell permits to those caught fishing without a license. After the first of the month, cases will be made and prosecuted, officials said.

Violation of the law—passed by the last general assembly—constitutes a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $25 or more.

GEORGIAN RE-ELECTED B. OF L. E. CHAIRMAN

NORFOLK, Va., June 23.—(P)—W. Flournoy, of Macon, Ga., chairman of the Southeastern Union, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, was re-elected at the closing of the three days' convention here today.

Others re-elected are Robert Clark, of Louisville, Ky., vice chairman, W. Va., secretary-treasurer, and W. J. Alford, of Hunter.

Jacksonville, Fla., was selected as the convention city for 1938.

Wounded Youth Aided By Passing Motorists

Prompt action by passing motorists who applied a tourniquet to the arm of Robert O'Quinn, 14, of 1573 Stokes avenue, S. W., who was accidentally shot while playing near his home, was praised by Grady hospital attaches yesterday.

The motorists, L. W. Willis and J. H. Wilson, saw the boy's plight and quickly fashioned a tourniquet with handkerchiefs. The injured boy was then taken to Grady. He was dismissed following treatment.

A playmate, whose name was not learned, shot the boy, police reports showed.

Fulton Sending Three to Chair To Die July 9

Fulton will demand her share of electric current July 9 at the state prison at Milledgeville.

Two convicted negroes were sentenced in superior court yesterday to die in the electric chair on that date. Another previously had been sentenced to die then.

Clinton Pinson, murderer of Roscoe Harbin, Peters street merchant, was resented by Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy after his attorney had pleaded for commutation of sentence.

Judge Pomeroy said he would consider the case and recommend the prison commission grant a commutation to life imprisonment if the facts merited.

Will Wright, convicted of a capital crime against a minor white girl, was resented by Judge James C. Davis. Both negroes had been denied clemency by the prison commission and the supreme court had refused to order a new trial.

Previously, Mitchell Turner, torch slayer of Mrs. R. M. Fluker, had been sentenced to die in the electric chair on July 9. Turner is the first man ever to be given the death penalty on a plea of guilty in Fulton county.

TALMADGE ADVICE IS 'DON'T BUY TAGS'

Former Governor Tells Bus, Truck Men To Wait.

Former Governor Talmadge suggested in the Statesman yesterday "there is no need" for Georgians to buy bus and truck tags "for the time being."

"On June 15 the Governor gave another suspension order for 30 days," he said. "That means you will have until July 15 in which to buy the maintenance tag for your bus or truck without paying a penalty."

"Probably by that time the legislature will be in session and we may get a complete suspension of these extra tags."

TWO MEN DRAW TERMS IN U. S. REFORMATORY

Two men, both of whom pleaded guilty before Judge E. Marvin Underwood in United States court Saturday, yesterday were given sentences of a year and a day in the United States industrial reformatory at Chillicothe, Ohio.

William Woodward was given a year and a day in each of three cases, sentences to run concurrently. He admitted guilt in violation of internal revenue laws with respect to liquor. Henry Thornton, charged with filing a false claim against the government, was the other pleader, drawing a single sentence of a year and a day.

EMPLOYEES WILL OWN IDLE HOUR NURSERIES

MACON, Ga., June 23.—(P)—Five employees of the late Dan C. Morgan eventually are to become owners of the Idle Hour Nurseries which he operated here for 35 years.

His will, probated by Ordinary Walter C. Stevens, places the nurseries in trust for the benefit of the widow and the five employees until her death, when they will go to the employees.

NORRIS IS IMPROVED.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(P)—Naval hospital officials said today that the condition of Senator Norris, Independent, Nebraska, is "improving steadily." He suffered an attack of indigestion yesterday.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calumet—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile every day. If it does not, your food does not digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Highway Patrolmen Must Carry Weight

Georgia's state highway patrolmen will be at least 5 feet 9 inches tall, will weigh 155 pounds or more, and between 25 and 45 years old.

Major John C. Carter, acting director of the state department of public safety, announced these minimum physical requirements yesterday.

Later on the age limits for recruits will be restricted to those between 21 and 30.

Application blanks will be available next week, he said.

The major asked that motorists withhold application for drivers' licenses until the patrol begins operation.

He said, "The license fees are not due until operation of the patrol starts." He added, "We haven't any money to buy stamps to return their money."

EAGER FOR DEATH, SAYS HITCH HIKER

Trial of 'Crime Tourist' Opens Today; Courtroom To Be Guarded.

LONOKE, Ark., June 23.—(P)—Lester Brockelhurst, 23-year-old accused "crime tourist," was eager for death in the electric chair today on the eve of his murder trial for the hitchhike slaying of Victor A. Gates, Little Rock planter.

"I want to get it all over with. I know they are going to send me to the chair," declared the former Galesburg, Ill., Sunday school teacher as he paced his cell.

Although expecting no trouble, presiding Judge W. J. Waggoner ordered eight state rangers and four sheriffs on guard during the trial. He instructed that all spectators be searched. A capacity crowd of 700 is expected, with 1,000 more to hear the proceedings on the courthouse lawn through loudspeakers.

Bernice Felton, Brockelhurst's 18-year-old sweetheart, also charged with Gates' killing, insisted she would not testify against him. Deputy Prosecutor Melton announced, however, she would be called as a state witness.

Although officials said Brockelhurst was "bitter toward the girl and blames her for his troubles," the accused "crime tourist" declared "I still think as much of Bernice as I ever did, and whether or not we marry is up to her, I'm willing if she says the word."

MORE FAIR WEATHER PROMISED CITY TODAY

Partly cloudy weather, but no rain, was predicted for today in last night's forecast of the local United States Weather Bureau.

Temperatures will remain about the same as yesterday, with a low of 63 degrees and a high of 80 expected. Yesterday the low was 68 and the high 87.

CROP LOANS OUT, WALLACE REPORTS

Control Legislation Imperative To Prevent Downward Trend of Prices.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(P)—Secretary Wallace told reporters today there is no chance of federal loans on wheat, corn and cotton crops this year unless crop control legislation is enacted.

He said he had made this same statement earlier in the week to a group of congressmen "much concerned about the downward trend of wheat prices."

By "loans," the Agriculture Department chief said, he meant the type of substantial advances made in the past when the government had the agriculture adjustment act to hold production in check and prevent price-depressing surpluses.

SCHOOL BONDS FAVORED.

EDISON, Ga., June 23.—(P)—Edison voters yesterday favored a bond issue of $5,000 for erection of an agricultural room for the social science department of the Edison High school, 246 voting for the bonds and 12 against, a two-thirds vote being necessary.

APPROVAL IMPENDS FOR LIQUOR TABOO

Tarver Bill to Protect Georgia in Line for Committee Okay.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The house judiciary committee is expected to report favorably tomorrow the Tarver bill to amend the liquor enforcement act of 1936 by making importation or transportation of intoxicating liquor into any dry state a misdemeanor.

Favorable action by the full committee was indicated today when a subcommittee approved the bill after Representative Malcolm C. Tarver, of Dalton, author of the bill, and Representative Stephen Pace, of Americus, had testified that such a measure was necessary to carry out the will of a majority of Georgians who, on June 8, voted by a large majority to outlaw sale of liquor within the state.

The Tarver amendment would subject a person guilty of importing, bringing or transporting intoxicating liquor into Georgia or any other dry state or territory, to a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

The Federal Alcohol Administration has already assured Commissioner of Revenue Head, of Georgia, it is willing to co-operate in every way possible to help the state prevent the running of hard liquors into Georgia from adjacent wet territory.

Heirloom Lace Forms Reason For Choice of Bridal Costume

By Sally Forth.

WHEN Frances Brown becomes the bride of Ralph Morrissey, of Nashville, Tenn., at a late afternoon ceremony on Sunday, her wedding toilette will feature a veil of handsome heirloom lace that has been worn by four generations of brides in her family. "In fact, the lace is the real reason I am wearing a regulation bridal costume," said Sunday's bride, who has chosen to be married at a quiet ceremony with only her immediate relatives and a few close friends present.

The veil of hand-made French lace was bought in New Orleans by Frances' great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Amanda Harding McGavock, who wore it first at her wedding. It was subsequently worn by Frances' grandmother, Mrs. C. S. Pearce, of Nashville; by her mother, Mrs. Ten Eyck Brown, and by her sister, Mrs. Tom Blake, of New York.

The veil will be edged for Sunday's ceremony with yards and yards of exquisite point applique lace which was purchased in Brussels, Belgium, by Frances' grandmother, Mrs. Pearce, when as a young girl she traveled in Europe. Since her wedding this lace has also formed a part of the wedding ensemble of all the brides in the family.

Arriving today for the wedding are the bridegroom-to-be and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Morrissey, of Nashville, who will be the guests here of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrisson.

SPEAKING of sentiment in connection with weddings, when Lois Eve, who has been a frequent visitor here, became the bride of Thomas Carlisle Rozier at a recent ceremony in Augusta, the vows were read by the Rev. Sidney L. McCarty from an historic prayer book. The book was brought from Staunton, Va., soon after the War Between the States by the bride's grandmother, Willie Harman, who later married Robert C. Eve. The prayer book was also used at the wedding of Lois' parents, Judge Eve and the late Mrs. Eve.

WHEN Mrs. Jim Goodrum selected the lot at Sea Island.

Parties Are Planned For Lady Blackett

Lady Beatrice Blackett, of London, England, continues to be feted as the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Blackett, at their home on Andrews drive. Lady Blackett is the wife of the late Sir Basil Blackett, prominent British financier. Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. King will be hosts this evening at a party at the weekly dinner-dance at the Capital City Country Club in compliment to the English visitor.

Mrs. Fannie Durand Williams will entertain Saturday at an informal tea at her home on Ridge-wood drive, N. E., as a complimentary gesture to Lady Blackett. Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dargan will be hosts at a dinner party on the roof of the Capital City Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackett were hosts last evening at dinner at their home on Andrews drive complimenting their guest.

Lady Blackett will leave Atlanta Sunday for New York, from where she will sail July 12 for London.

Society Events

THURSDAY, JUNE 24.

Miss Julia Colquitt will become the bride of Russell Bridges Jr. at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Walter T. Colquitt, on Habersham road.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles King give a party at the dinner-dance at Brookhaven, the Capital City Country Club, for Miss Harriet Anne Baylor and her fiancé, Dr. William G. Austin, of Chattanooga.

Miss Jean Blacklock, bride-elect, gives a luncheon for members of the Chi Omega sorority.

Mrs. J. J. Poole gives a bridge-luncheon at her home on Oakdale road for Miss Thelma Edwards, bride-elect.

Mrs. Julius M. Alexander gives a dinner at her home on Juniper street in celebration of her 83d birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Livingstone entertain at their home for Mr. and Mrs. John T. Moon Jr., who were married June 2, and Mr. and Mrs. Guilford Campbell, of Charlotte, N. C., who are their guests.

Dinner-dance takes place on the terrace of Brookhaven, the Capital City Country Club.

Mrs. E. L. McCray, treasurer of the West End Woman's Club and chairman of Tallulah Falls school, sponsors a bridge-luncheon at the clubhouse, 1100 Cascade road, at 10:30 o'clock.

The Albee Class of Capitol Avenue Baptist church will hold its annual picnic at Glenwood Springs.

Grant Park Chapter No. 178 will have a lemon party at the home of Mrs. Hazel Brooks, 379 Augusta avenue, S. E., this evening.

Miss Ruth Stewart To Wed Mr. Collins.

Miss Ruth Stewart, daughter of Mrs. J. P. Stewart, will become the bride of Arthur Wood Collins at a quiet home ceremony taking place July 1. The ceremony will be solemnized at 4 o'clock at the bride-elect's home on Bellevue drive, with Dr. Stuart Oglesby, pastor of the Central Avenue Presbyterian church, officiating.

Miss Stewart will be given in marriage by her brother-in-law, A. G. Martin, of Jacksonville, Fla., and acting as the groom-elect's best man will be his brother, Johnson Collins.

Mrs. A. G. Martin, of Jacksonville, sister of the bride-elect, has been chosen as the matron of honor and only attendant of the bride-elect.

Miss Stewart and her fiancé are being feted at numerous social affairs prior to the nuptials.

Sons and Daughters Of Pilgrims Meet.

The eighth birthday of the Georgia Branch, Sons and Daughters of the Pilgrims, was celebrated recently at Craigie House. The executive board met with the state governor, Mrs. S. M. Page Rees presiding. The flags of the society were borne by Mary Alice McDougall and Addavale McDougall, the daughters of Mrs. William McDougall, and the pledge of allegiance to the flag was given by the assembly.

The meeting was addressed by Eugene Mitchell, distinguished lawyer of Atlanta and well-known historian, followed by a reception in honor of the members and their guests. Mr. Mitchell spoke on "Tracings of Georgia's History from the Spanish Colonization of 1830."

National officers present were Mrs. C. D. Tebo, deputy governor general for Georgia, and Mrs. Patrick Bray, of Florida, national historian. The next meeting will be held on November 13.

Overseas League.

Atlanta unit, Women's Overseas Service League, meets at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon with Miss Sara R. Addison, 2490 Briarcliff road. Telephone HEMlock 4509-W. ## Miss Weldon Weds James Terry Smith

GRiffin, Ga., June 23.—Miss Florence Weldon, of Griffin, became the bride of James Terry Smith Jr., of Atlanta, at a beautiful ceremony taking place Saturday at the home of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse O. Futral, in Griffin. The Rev. M. M. Maxwell, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated in the presence of the immediate families.

Palms, ferns and tall floor baskets of regal lilies, shasta daisies and white gladioli formed an improvised altar in the living room before which the marriage vows were said.

There were no attendants, the bride and groom entering together. The bride's blond beauty was enhanced by her gown of navy blue chiffon, trimmed with white, and worn with a Breton sailor of navy blue and other accessories of blue and white. Her corsage was of sweetheart roses and valley lilies.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Smith left on their wedding trip to Highlands and other points in North Carolina. Later they will reside at 1087 West Peachtree street, Atlanta, where Mr. Smith is connected with the engineering division of the Georgia Power Company.

Steak Fry Honors Miss Baylor, Fiancee.

Miss Harriett Ann Baylor and her fiancé, Dr. William Austin, of Chattanooga, Tenn., whose marriage will be a social event of next Tuesday, were the central figures last evening at the steak fry given by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rutland at the country home of Judge Frank Harwell on the Wesley Chapel road.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baylor, parents of the bride-elect; the honor guests, Misses Elinor Smith, Nancy Keeler, Mrs. Elizabeth Garner, Cecil Compton, Charles Wilkinson, Clarence Reese and William Currie.

Hull-Smith Wedding Is Set for Sunday

Announcement is made today of the wedding plans of Miss Ruth Elizabeth Hull, of College Park, and Fred Glenn Smith, of Chattanooga, formerly of this city. The marriage will be solemnized on Sunday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church in College Park. Dr. James L. Baggett will officiate.

The bride-elect will be given in marriage by her father, J. C. Hull, and will have as her matron of honor her sister, Mrs. E. H. Gordy. The bridesmaids will be Misses Mary and Mildred Hull, younger sisters of the bride-to-be. Thomas B. Andrews, of Chattanooga, will be Mr. Smith's best man, and groomsmen will be Omer Thomas and Frederick Hull, of College Park. Ushers will be C. E. Guerin, of Atlanta, and Almon Hendrick, of East Point.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hull will entertain at a reception at their home.

White-Lane Plans Are Announced.

Announcement of the wedding plans of Miss Margaret White, daughter of Mrs. Herbert Elmore White, and Thomas Ganit Lane is of interest to a wide circle of friends. The ceremony will take place at 6 o'clock in the evening of July 15 at North Avenue Presbyterian church, with the Rev. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of the church, reading the service.

Miss White will be given in marriage by her cousin, Charles Harmon Gordon, and her only sister, Miss Caroline Elizabeth White, will be her maid of honor and only attendant.

Mr. Lane will be attended by Robert Jordan as his best man and ushers are to be Van Wall and Robert B. Smithson.

The wedding music will be furnished by Miss Emily Parmalee, organist of the church, and by T. Stanley Perry, soloist.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will reside here.

The bride-elect is being entertained at a series of parties prior to her marriage. On Saturday Mrs. Ralph E. Brown and Miss Lucile Bush will entertain at luncheon at Davison-Paxon's in her honor.

Guests will include Misses Marie Welch,

Catherine Dorsey, Betty Blodgett, Virginia Bauknight, Caroline White, Janice Wise, Margaret White and Mrs. J. G. E. Wise, on July 14 at their home on Arlington place, and guests will number only members of the immediate families and of the wedding party.

The rehearsal party will be given by Miss Janice Wise, assisted by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Latham.

Miss Hall and Mr. Seals Are Wed At Beautiful Afternoon Ceremony

Miss Rebecca Hall became the bride of Thomas Archibald Seals at a beautiful ceremony taking place at the First Methodist church in Decatur yesterday afternoon. Rev. J. W. O. McKibben, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony at 3:30 o'clock in the presence of an assemblage of friends and relatives of the young couple. Palms and ferns banked the church altar, in the center of which was placed a floor vase filled with Easter lilies and other white flowers. Cathedral candelabra holding burning tapers flanked either side of the altar in effective arrangement. Pews reserved for the family were marked by bows of white tulle.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Pauline Henkel, friend of the bride. Acting as ushers were Charles Richardson and Charles Harrold, of Macon; Randolph L. Fort, of Tuscaloosa, Ala.; John Emory Seals, of Montgomery, Ala., brother of the groom; Dean Roberts, cousin of the groom, and Doyle Hall, brother of the bride. Miss Mildred Hall, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. She was gowned in powder blue net posed over blue taffeta, fashioned along graceful lines and featuring short puffed sleeves. She wore a picture hat of blue horsehair braid trimmed with taffeta ribbon, and her slippers were in a matching shade of blue. Her flowers were a bouquet of yellow roses and snapdragons, tied with yellow ribbon.

The bride entered with her father, Dr. Oliver Doyle Hall, who gave her in marriage, and was met at the altar by the bridegroom and his brother, Charles Roberts Seals, of Miami, who acted as best man. Her youthful beauty was enhanced by her wedding gown of white mousseline de soie and lace over white satin. The gown was fashioned in redingote style with covered buttons down the front, and a Queen Anne collar. The long train was built into the floor-length skirt. Her veil of illusion tulle was caught to her hair in halo effect with clusters of orange blossoms on either side. Her only ornament was an exquisite diamond necklace loaned by the bride. John K. Durst, She carried a bouquet of bride's roses showered with lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at an informal reception at their home on East Ponce de Leon avenue. Mrs. Randolph L. Fort, sister of the groom, assisted in receiving. Mrs. Hall, mother of the bride, wore a gown of blue and white chiffon with a hat of white starched lace and other accessories in white. She wore a cluster of pink roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Fort wore a duobonnet and white chiffon with white accessories. Her flowers were white roses and valley lilies.

The home was effectively decorated with summer garden flowers. In the dining room the table was covered with a lace cloth and graced in the center with a bride's cake. White tapers in silver candelsticks flanked either side. Assisting in entertaining were Misses Sara Hall, Martha Garner, Eulalia Farr, Betty Decker, Medaimes Henry D. Holbrook, W. H. Durden and M. J. Maroney, of Gainesville. Mrs. E. M. Campbell kept the bride's book.

The bride and groom left for their wedding trip to Miami, Fla. The bride traveled in a smart costume of duobonnet and white sheer crepe with a finger-tip jacket. Her hat was a model of white straw with a band of duobonnet ribbon and her other accessories were in white.

Miss Helen Eplan Becomes Bride Of Mr. Stein at Home Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. ALFRED A. STEIN.

Miss Helen Eplan became the bride of Alfred A. Stein yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the bride's residence on Lanier boulevard. Rabbi David Marx performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families. Ben Poller played the nuptial music.

The bride wore a navy tucked mousseline de soie ensemble posed over taffeta, featuring a close-fitting bodice and short puffed sleeves made full at the shoulders. The V-neckline was trimmed with a misty pink collar and caught with a cluster of sweetheart roses and valley lies. She wore a small off-the-face hat of navy tulle taffeta and matching accessories.

Mrs. Sol Eplan, mother of the bride, was gowned in blue and pink flowered chiffon completed with a throat bouquet of talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Eplan entertained at an informal breakfast after the ceremony. Mr. Stein and his bride left at noon for a wedding trip east.

Miss Edna Copeland Becomes Bride Of Mr. White at Griffin Ceremony

GRiffin, June 23.—Of unusual interest in Georgia, Virginia and New York is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Sara Edna Copeland, of Griffin and New York city, and Robert William White, of Chincoteague, Va., which was solemnized yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Walter Copeland, on Twelfth street here.

The Rev. Augustus Ernest, of LaGrange, a close friend of the bride's family, officiated in the presence of immediate relatives. The marriage vows were said in the living room in front of an improvised altar of palms and ferns. Tall floor standards placed at intervals held white lilies and greenery. The reception rooms were decorated throughout with summer flowers in pastel shades.

The bride's beauty of the bride was enhanced by her ensemble of navy blue triple sheer, the top of the dress being made of white embroidered organdy and lace. She wore an off-the-face hat of navy blue French felt, other accessories of navy blue and white, and a shoulder cluster of white orchids.

Dr. and Mrs. Copeland entertained at a wedding breakfast following the ceremony. A green and white motif prevailed in the dining room, the center table being overlaid with an imported lace cloth. The three-tiered wedding cake was outlined with white interest in Georgia, Virginia and New York is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Sara Edna Copeland, of Griffin and New York city, and Robert William White, of Chincoteague, Va., which was solemnized yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Walter Copeland, on Twelfth street here.

Mrs. White is the only daughter of her parents, former residents of Jackson, who are among Griffin's most prominent and beloved citizens. She received her preliminary education in Jackson and Griffin schools and later attended Wesleyan College in Macon. Mrs. White, who is a young woman of unusual beauty and charm, is widely known over the state, as she has been a frequent popular visitor in many Georgia cities and is connected with some of the state's most prominent families. Her only brother is Lieutenant Arthur Copeland, of Fort McPherson.

Mr. White is the only son of Mrs. E. W. White and the late Dr. White, of Chincoteague, Va., members of pioneer Virginia families. He has two sisters, Mrs. Charles Showard, of Chincoteague, and Mrs. William Pomeroy, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Mr. White attended Randolph-Macon preparatory school and was graduated from the University of Virginia, where he was a member of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity. For the past five years he has been New York representative of a prominent Richmond concern.

Late Summer Frocks For Dancing and Dining Are Diaphanous

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: My wife is a funny girl. She works in a restaurant and meets all sorts of fellows. If one of them asks her for a date she goes right on just as if she didn't have a husband. Then let me get after her and she says: "I love you honey; I am sorry to hurt you; but when I get the urge to go, I go and that's the way it is." Now Miss Chatfield that's no way for a wife to do. Sometimes I think I will tell her that I have the urge to quit her for good but if there's any way around parting company with her, I would like to find it. A. W. L.

Answer: Don't run out on your wife, even if she is doing a few sprints on the side. Not that there is any excuse for her behaving like a flapper but that you may be able to save her from her own folly. Remember that although you are not supporting her, you owe it to her to protect her as best you can.

The simplest way around is for your wife to give up the restaurant job and get another where she won't meet temptations that walk on two legs and talk her language. A flirtatious married woman has no more business working in a restaurant than a drunkard has working in a liquor store. However, it may be that she must support herself and that she can't find another position. In this case you will have to try the reasoning method on her.

Why not sound her out as to what her feelings would be were the tables turned and you were yielding to urges to date every attractive girl you ran into? If she has any good sportsmanship in her nature, she will admit she couldn't take it. Having admitted this, she will realize what she's been putting you through and be heartily ashamed of herself.

Aye, here's the rub in the fifty-fifty marriage. The wife who supports herself hasn't the same attitude toward her husband as does the wife who lives out of her husband's purse. "I am independent," says she, "why should a man who does not feed and clothe me have the right to tell me what I may and may not do?" And the man whose wife works is a bit hesitant about asserting his manly prerogatives. Short on income he soon finds that he has to do some other things quite as necessary to a successful marriage.

Of course many fifty-fifty couples do manage to work out their problems but they have to be square shooters and good sports. When a wife gets the truth, she has the tendency to run away, and the husband hasn't the strength to grasp the reins and hold her in they are heading for disaster.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: My best friend is a swell girl. She is pretty, smart and wears fine clothes, yet the boys see her coming and go the other way. She can't understand it but I do. Her family has laughed her wisecracks until she thinks she must make one every time she opens her mouth. You know the boys can't take cracks and this is the reason she has no dates. How can I tell her the truth without hurting her feelings? JANET S.

Answer: Mighty few of us can hear the truth about ourselves without being angered or getting our feelings hurt; but you will be doing your friend a great kindness if you tell her the truth, as tactfully as you can, and then take the consequences. "Faithful are the wounds of a friend," writes the Wise One.

Nothing queers a girl with the boys more quickly than for the news to be noised among them that she's a sharp-tongued wise-cracker. Young boys are none too easy with the girls to start with and they naturally gravitate toward those who have the gift of putting them at ease.

Even when they are older and simply able to take care of themselves men prefer to be flattered rather than poked fun at. Ridicule being the main stock in trade of the female wit, men know she will go her length to maintain her reputation for cleverness. But what the family thinks clever and what the boys think clever are quite different.

Boy and man consider a girl clever when she gives them an opportunity to show what well entertainers they can be. Sure enough it takes more wit and wisdom to ask cunning questions than to make wise-cracks. Sure enough it takes more self-control and more tact to listen than to talk. And it requires more skill to make the other fellow show up well than to be a show-off.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

McCollum-Cox.

MARIETTA, Ga., June 23.—The marriage of Miss Dismore McCollum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. McCollum, to Jimmy Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cox, took place here this afternoon at the home of Rev. George Brown, pastor of the First Baptist church, who read the service.

The bride wore an afternoon gown of white mousseline de soie, and a circlet of rosebuds in her hair. Her flowers were an old-fashioned bouquet of white roses and valley lilies.

The bride and groom left for a honeymoon at Daytona Beach and on their return will reside on Waddell street.

By LISBETH.

"Little Fairy light and airy, tripping o'er the lea," was the first line of a little song in my childhood music book years ago. The phrase comes to mind in looking over the new summer dresses, for they could be lighter and more airy than the materials, and more fairylike than the wearers of these lovely frocks.

The dinner and dance dress, left, is pale pink silk marquisette with black eyelet print and sweep skirt. The full sleeves are gathered into a long, tight cuff with a black silver velvet ribbon. The bodice is shirred on to the circular skirt by two narrow black velvet ribbons run through the waist.

Long sleeves are new in formal gowns and you will notice the continuance of high necklines, although they vary. These wide-skirted gowns are all the rage

Grow Slender and Shapely On Three Square Meals a Day

25 CONSUMME 100	100 LAMB CHOP 35	20 TOMATO 20	100 STRING BEANS 100	280 LEMON ICE CALORIES
100 CREAM OF CORN 200	100 PORK CHOP 100	100 POTATO 100	400 CREAMED PEAS 400	1000 SUNDAY CALORIES

How lovely and gay this shapeless young woman looks. You'd never believe that not long ago she was as dowdy and heavy as Mrs. Plump.

She's on the last lap of her easy reducing campaign. She loses two pounds a week eating three meals a day. They're delicious, filling, but low in calory count.

Here's a slimming lunch she enjoys—consomme, lamb chop, grilled tomato, string beans and lemon ice. Total 280 calories.

Poor Mrs. Plump stays fat even though she skips breakfasts. Her lunch is no larger than the wise reducer's. But see how it bulges with fattening calories. Cream of corn soup has 175 more calories than an equal portion of consomme; pork chop, 100 more calories than lamb chop; medium-sized potato, 65 more than medium tomato; creamed peas, 80 more than string beans; ice cream with chocolate sauce, 300 more than lemon ice.

Reducing the pleasant diet way takes little will-power. All you need is easy-to-fix menus totaling 1,200 calories a day. Or, if you eat out, a calory chart of common foods to help you keep within your calory budget. These slimming menus are no extra work. Serve them to the family, simply adding more bread and butter, sugar and cream, perhaps a heartier dessert, for calory-hungry appetites.

You'll find two weeks of appetizing reducing menus and a useful calory chart in our 40-page booklet, change your weight for beauty's sake. Special exercises to slip off stubborn bulges. Also weight-gaining plan.

Send 15 cents for our booklet, "CHANGE YOUR WEIGHT FOR BEAUTY'S SAKE," to Home Institute, Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

King George's influence helped to bring about a truce in troubled Ireland. Years of bloodshed had followed a rebellion of Sinn Feiners (1916) seeking a united and independent Ireland. They were given a Parliament in 1921, but were not satisfied. Because Ulster was also given one, and Ireland remained divided.

NOTE—This is the final installment and concludes this fascinating series relating the history of England's kings.

Summer dance frocks in Paris usually are short for the more informal occasions. They come midway between ankles and knees, or slightly longer. For formal affairs, however, dresses they are wearing are always full-length.

Shirts for the shorter dance frocks and wide and soft; flutery materials are invariably used. All these frocks are fashioned much alike, with moderately low-cut necklines, with back and shoulders bare, light, short-waisted bodices and full skirts.

Glenn-Nichols Wedding Plans.

Miss Margaret Glenn and William Van Nichols have chosen Saturday as the date for their marriage, the ceremony to take place at 8:30 o'clock in the evening at the First Baptist church. Dr. Ryland Knight, pastor of the church, will officiate.

A musical program will be presented by Carroll Ramsey, organist, and Mrs. D. C. Adams, soprano.

Miss Glenn will have as her maid of honor her sister, Miss Sara Glenn, of Summerville, and the bridesmaid will be Miss Louise Wood, of Summerville. The bride-elect will be given in marriage by her father, Hamilton Glenn. Mr. Nichols has chosen his brother, George T. Nichols, as his best man.

Gulford A. Campbell, of Charlotte, N. C.; Nathan P. Cox, Ben H. Berry and J. M. Wilson Jr. will act as ushers and groomsmen.

Woodmen Circle.

Officers of Maple Grove No. 86, Woodmen of Circle, will entertain this evening at 8 o'clock, at 160 Central avenue. Mrs. Annie Jackson and her committee have arranged a novel program. Members and friends of the society are invited.

HEALTH TALKS

CAUSE AND PREVENTION OF PNEUMONIA.

In an article published recently, "The Natural Way to Breathe" we showed how lowering of the vital capacity, shallow breathing, and not chilling, accounts for the frequency of pneumonia or other pulmonary complications following major operations, whether the surgery is done under ether or other inhalation anesthesia or under local or spinal anesthesia. Many measurements with the spirometer (which measures the quantity of air breathed) have indicated that the vital capacity is lowered from 30 to 50 per cent for a few days following a major operation, especially an abdominal operation. Ordinarily an adult breathing quietly inhales and exhales a pint of air at each respiration. Cut down this average air intake from one-third to one-half, and bear in mind that only one-fifth of the volume of the air is oxygen, and one may readily imagine that lowered vital capacity might have far-reaching effects on health and life.

Collapse (atelectasis) of portions of the lungs is more likely to occur when the vital capacity is lowered. Collapse of the air-cells of the lungs, rather than filling with water, is the cause of death in drowning, where the victim gets a little water in the nose or mouth in the first fright and struggle, inducing spasmodic tightening or closing of the glottis or entrance to the windpipe, so that the violent efforts to inhale air produce negative pressure within the chest, and collapse of the lung.

Belly breathing exercise and inhalation of carboxygen from an inhalator—a mixture of carbon dioxide, from 7 to 10 per cent with oxygen—is one of the best preventive measures against pneumonia in any circumstance where pneumonia or other pulmonary complications is likely to occur.

Of course, all I know is what I hear real doctors say, but I sincerely believe that the regular practice of belly breathing, especially six belly inflations on retiring, and six on waking in the morning, is a good prophylactic against pneumonia.

Medicines of the sedative or narcotic class, too often taken by laymen for relief of cough, are, in my opinion, a contributing cause of pneumonia. Such drugs benumb the cough reflex, favor retention of viscid or tenacious mucus in the bronchial tube, and this may serve as a plug which gives rise to a small area of collapse or atelectasis of lung. The collapsed airless lung tissue is more vulnerable to pneumococci than is a normally functioning lung. Again, suppression of cough by such means impairs a natural means of defense—for the natural purpose of coughing is to expel something foreign or irritating. Finally, cough does tend to lower the vital capacity still further.

Finally I believe but do not know that exposure of the naked skin to ultraviolet light, mid-day sunlight, is a prophylactic against pneumonia and other respiratory infections, for any reason one cannot absorb ultraviolet (which produces vitamin D) in the skin, then one requires an adequate daily ration of vitamin D internally, in one form or another.

A DEFINITE LIFT.

Our Little Gray Cells Begin to Percolate.

Dining outside or dining in, a lady with a house does get tired of the same old table settings. It is always a little depressing to think of the gigantic task of planning three meals a day every day in the year, but we've found that if the settings of these meals are varied and intriguing, a lady gets a very definite "lift" and her meals take on glamour and piquancy.

We don't know why, but summer seems to be the time when our "little gray cells" begin to percolate, and new and unexpected ideas for table settings come natural to most of us. Just now we're terribly excited about some linen cloths and napkins we've seen lately in gorgeous audacious colors taken from old Chinese paintings—mandarin red, old blue, moonstone gray and turquoise.

Zest to Jaded Appetites. Even the most mundane of hashes, if set on white plates against any of these rich colors would bring zest to jaded summer appetites. These cloths are surprisingly inexpensive and are made even more dramatic by a wide band of white around their borders. We'd like them particularly with white pottery plates and cups and a dashing arrangement of the more flamboyant summer flowers. Perhaps you could mix black eyed Susans and Baby's breath in a white bowl for a centerpiece on the moonstone gray cloth. Or for a really exotic centerpiece, try cutting madonna lilies very short and allowing their creamy blossoms to float on the water's surface in a low, square brass container. This would be lovely on the turquoise cloth.

If you have lovely, spiky zinnias, their colors will give you all sorts of new ideas with your Chinese cloths. We'd like the deep red zinnias in a blue container on an old blue cloth. And, flamboyant dahlias will feel right at home if placed in exotic containers to grace any of these brightly colored cloths.

Distinctive Initials Glorifies Chair Set of Dainty Crochet

PATTERN 5819

Like accessories that "say they're yours?" Of course you do—and here's an exquisite chair set that you'll find inexpensive and easy to crochet yourself! What is more—it boasts your own initial worked out as the central part of its dainty "wreath" motif! Best of all, this eye-catching chair set conceals worn-out places in your old chairs, and protects new ones at strategic points! In pattern 5819 you will find charts and directions for making a chair back 12-3-4x18 inches, 6x12-3-4 inch arm rests, a complete alphabet, each letter measuring 4-1/2x5-1/2 inches; illustrations of all stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Department, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Exercise Tones the Skin.

You must time your reducing program for skin contractility. The first week or so, you may lose five to six pounds without endangering your appearance. By itself this first loss is not enough to affect the skin. After that first two weeks, however, slow down to five or six pounds per month—for beauty's sake. It is possible to lose as much as 50 pounds a year without adding a wrinkle, provided you are willing to pay the price of consistent exercise, protective diet, massage and regularity in sleeping hours. The faster you reduce, the more precautions you must take. The system is subjected to a physiological strain on such a drastic program, and you must enlist all health and beauty measures.

A slow weight loss gives your skin an even chance, but the real trick in reducing is to replace the subcutaneous fat with well-toned muscle tissue. Exercise while you reduce, to come out without a wrinkle. The cosmetic value of exercise is superior to anything ever invented. Regular activity tones the skin and muscles, improves circulation, and increases skin elasticity. Any measure that gives vigor to the body beautifies the skin.

Lastly, when you reduce, rapidly, you are quite likely to lose in the wrong places. With fast reducing the weight is prone to come off the face and throat, giving age a chance to score heavily. With slow reducing and corrective

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Tuesday—We have to leave here today after lunch, and I find that even after four days you can have the same feeling of having to do innumerable little things before you go.

There is a cord on a lamp which needs to be lengthened, some books I want to put up in a closet, and the list goes on indefinitely. But, at a quarter before 11 I had to stop and I got into my car.

I had promised my mother-in-law, Mrs. James Roosevelt, to go up to the library in the village where the Albany Association for the Blind was holding a sale of things made by the blind. Miss Cook had also promised to go, and Mrs. Scheider came, too, so we would add to the association's sales as much as our combined purses could stand.

I drove over to the big house first to make sure that my mother-in-law was starting on time. Then we drove up to Hyde Park and arrived just after she did, to find Mr. Wilson, our rector, and one or two of my friends in the village already there helping the Albany representatives of the association.

I was so glad to see some of my old friends, and I was much interested in meeting an old man, with a long white beard, who is almost totally blind. He does pewter work and had some pewter ash trays on sale, some of which I bought. I had a little chat with him, for Mr. Wilson was showing him the book which the American Red Cross gave me of "Bobby and Betty's Trip to Washington," in Braille. He seemed interested and I explained that I had given it to the library knowing that though we fortunately had no blind children in the village, I hoped that our library might be able to lend it to other libraries in the county where there were some blind children who might enjoy it.

The old gentleman looked at me as though he actually saw me and inquired about my health, saying that when he "saw" me at election time he thought I didn't look so well. I assured him I was almost always well and then he inquired after the President and said he thought he was doing a good job.

The picture in the paper this morning showing the devastation in a suburb of Bilbao gives me a sense of horror. Why must people go on stupidly destroying what it has taken human hands so long to build? Are we never going to reach a point where a vote will be a substitute for cutting each other's throats or blowing each other up with guns?

Among other things, I noticed yesterday that the Basque children taken to England were not very happy. It makes me feel more strongly than ever that our own contribution should be in money and these children should be kept as near their own country as possible.

Children lose all sense of security when their surroundings are not familiar. It is probably easier to stand constant shelling when the room you are in is a room you have known all your life. If it falls about your ears, you are probably killed and know nothing about it. But you cannot imagine that such a thing will happen because you have known the room as it is and can visualize it no other way.

Your Figure, Madam

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

Fast reducing causes wrinkles! No woman over 30 should slim down faster than two pounds per week; no woman over 40 should attempt to reduce faster than one pound per week. As time goes on, the skin loses its elasticity; and in reducing for beauty, the loss of subcutaneous tissue must keep pace with skin contraction.

Fat does not magically disappear, leaving the skin smooth and firm, so you must guard against the sudden loss of pounds. With a gain or loss in weight, the skin expands or contracts. There is no limit, it seems, to the amount you can stretch your skin in a gradual weight gain. You can also shrink it back to perfect size, provided you do it gradually.

With an abrupt loss in weight, the skin is unable to contract, and wrinkles are the result. Excessive overweight unduly stretches the skin—which is the reason you rarely see an extreme overweight with wrinkles. Great caution must be exercised to avoid wrinkling when this weight is lost, for an over-stretched skin is like an over-stretched rubber band. It has lost its elasticity.

exercise, the fat is removed from waist, hips and abdomen, protecting your face against the loss.

Gradual weight loss with regularity in exercise every step of the way is the secret of skin adjustment to new measurements. Do you have a good daily dozen? Do you do them?

Joe Louis Will Be Fighting Champion

By ALAN GOULD.
CHICAGO, June 23.—(P)—Mike Jacobs, the grizzled New York ticket broker who has now become the new Tex Rickard of pugilistic promotion, today mapped plans to make Joe Louis the busiest heavy-weight champion in the history of the boxing industry. Strengthening his hold upon the trump cards without delay, in the wake of the negro's spectacular eight-round knockout of James J. Braddock, Jacobs announced a two-year extension of his contract with the 23-year-old titleholder. The extension gives Jacobs exclusive promotion rights to the negro's services for the next five

A GUEST COLUMN By Dorothy Kirby

This is my first attempt at writing a guest column but I guess you will know that before I finish this.

I don't know exactly what to write about since there is nothing exciting happening now. However, on second thought, I think I will just talk about different things and skip from one to the other.

Last week I went to my first wrestling match and it was quite a thrill. I was sitting right up at the ring and thought every minute one of them would wind up on top of me. During the first bout there was a lot of moaning and groaning going on by the wrestlers and I began to wonder what I had gotten into but as time went on and the last bout came up I was pulling just as hard as an old wrestling fan. I still do not know how those wrestlers take all the punishment that they seem to take. For instance, one had an arm grip on the other and he held it for what seemed like ages; anyway, he

FAVORITES WIN IN JUNIOR PLAY

Three down and three to go, B. G. Stowe Jr., rallied to beat Garland East on the 20th green in the best match of the quarter-finals of the Junior golf tournament Wednesday morning on the West End course. It was a championship consolation match, but attracted the most attention.

Billy Caye, the medalist, Weldon Branch, the 1936 medalist, and Allen Yates, the favorites, all advanced to the semi-finals, although they were forced to shoot some extra good golf to keep in front. Caye beat Spencer Crowley, 4-2. Branch eliminated George Berry, 5-4, and Yates beat Charlie Burnett, 3-2. Junior Patisillo also entered the semi-finals with a 5-4 victory over Dick Carroll.

BEST OF TOURNEY.
That Stowe-East match was by far the best of the tourney thus far and attracted a good gallery. The championship flight players hurried through their matches when they learned that Stowe was playing such fine golf and cutting down East's lead as the match neared the 18th green.

In today's semi-finals, Caye plays Patisillo in the upper bracket, and Yates meets Branch, a fellow player from the East Lake Club.

That Branch-Yates match today should be the highlight of the championship flight, and well worth the while. Both have played in keen competition in the East Lake dogfies.

Branch was medalist last year on the Ansley Park course and second in the West End qualifying. He has been playing unusually good golf.

Yates, the youngest brother of Charlie, also has shown great improvement in his game this spring. He has been a consistent winner in the East Lake dogfies where competition ranks with the best in the state and recently fired a 74, two over par on the long No. 1 course.

The results:
Championship Flight—Billy Caye beat Spencer Crowley, 4-2; Junior Patisillo beat Dick Carroll, 5-4; Weldon Branch beat George Berry, 4-3; Allen Yates beat Charlie Burnett, 3-2.
Consolation—Benton, bye; Stowe beat East, 1 up, 20 holes; Stillwell, bye; Blalock beat Garrard, default.

Second Flight—Nunnally beat Hall, 7-5; Lindsey beat Rosenberg, default; Adair beat Whitenton, 6-5; Sturman beat Rice, default.

$715,420 Grossed By Title Struggle
CHICAGO, June 23.—(AP)—Revised official figures on the Louis-Braddock title fight listed the gross receipts today at $715,420.34, including $75,000 for motion picture and radio rights.
Paid attendance was itemized at 41,684, with the largest sale of tickets—13,741—in the top price seats at $27.50.
Gross receipts from ticket sales were $640,420.34. Net receipts, after deduction of federal and state taxes, were placed at $518,380.50.

Dean Wins 11th Game in Mound Duel With Van Mungo, 3-2

HUBBELL BEATS CUBS, 8-4, BREAKS LOSING STREAK

Cards and Giants Now Trailing Leaders by One Game.

ST. LOUIS, June 23.—(P)—Though the Cardinals were out-hit by a margin of ten to four this afternoon, they took advantage of an eighth-inning Brooklyn error to put across two runs and gain a 3-to-2 victory over the Dodgers. It left them four points up on the New York Giants, with both a game and a half behind the leading Cubs.

The error, a wild throw by Southpaw Roy Henshaw, enabled Dizzy Dean, despite the fact that he was hit hard and often, to achieve his eleventh victory only three days after he had won his tenth.

Dean applied the pressure in the ninth, striking out Woody English and Ralph Birkhofer, a pinch-hitter, and getting Johnny Cooney on a grounder after Stripp and Winsett had led off with singles.

Dean's seven strikeouts gave him a lead of two over Mungo, with Dizzy's total 97 and Van's 95.

Carl Hubbell's four-game losing streak ended as the New York Giants' ace southpaw got good batting support in the early innings from his mates, weathered a four-run storm in the eighth and defeated the Cubs, 8-4. The victory brought the Giants back to within a game of the leading Chicagoans.

The Pirates made it two in a row over the Bees today, winning 8 to 5. It was Boston's eleventh consecutive loss.

Russell Batters, tall right-hander who worked the full game, held the Bees to six hits. The Pirates drove Danny MacFadden to the showers early, scoring two runs in the first round on four hits. John Lanning and Bob Smith finished on the mound for Boston.

Hugh Mulcahy pitched the Phillies back into sixth place in the National league race with a four-hit 3 to 0 victory over the Reds, who dropped to seventh position after a one-day stand ahead of the Phils.

Mulcahy permitted no more than one hit in any inning.

GREENBERG HITS 16TH WITH 3 ON, BUT RED SOX WIN

Chandler Shelled Browns Beat Yanks; Thomas Loses; A's Hit Cellar.

BOSTON, June 23.—(P)—The Boston Red Sox wasted no time wiping out Hank Greenberg's first-inning homer with the bases loaded today, and although out-hit, 12-11, nosed out the Detroit Tigers, 6-5.

Greenberg's grand slam circuit drive, his 16th of the season, came after Fox singled and Clifton and Gehring beat out bunts to fill the bases with Wilson then retired the side in order and gave the Tigers their last tally in the second, when Tebbets doubled and Fox belted out

Grant Wins Easily In Wimbledon Play

Ailing Bitsy Beats Unknown Briton, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, 6-0; Bunny Austin Routs Sabin.

By GAYLE TALBOT.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 23.—(P)—H. W. (Bunny) Austin gave British fans something to rejoice about today as he came back to overwhelm Wayne Sabin, Hollywood (Cal.) youngster, in the second round of the All-England tennis championships.

Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, of Atlanta; Don Budge, No. 1 American; Frankie Parker, of Milwaukee, and Gene Mako, of Los Angeles, advanced to the third round, but Hal Surface, of Kansas City, was eliminated in one of the finest matches of the day.

Grant, still suffering from the effects of his recent illness, was carried to four sets by the unknown Briton, R. Morton, but won easily, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, 6-0. Parker stopped the veteran Jacques Brugnon, of France, 6-0, 6-3, 6-1, and the erratic Mako was in top form as he routed H. C. Fisher, of Switzerland, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1.

Austin, mainstay of the Davis cup defenders, made it abundantly clear he still is to be reckoned with as he made a chopping block of the American who nearly upset him five days ago in the Queen's Club tournament.

Austin's victory, gained by a 6-2, 6-3, 6-0 count, was fully as convincing as those scored by Don Budge, America's red-headed hope, and Baron Gottfried von Cramm, top-ranking German.

Budge, seeded at the top for this tournament and a heavy favorite for the title relinquished by Fred Perry, turned back George Patrick Hughes, British Davis cupper, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, while von Cramm spilled C. R. D. Tuckey, Hughes' doubles partner, 6-2, 6-0, 6-4.

Surface tangled with Franz Kukuljevic, of Yugoslavia, in a two-struggle that Kukuljevic, aided by a bad line decision in the fifth set, finally won at 5-7, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3, 9-7.

The third day of the Wimbledon competition again was devoid of upsets. There were flurries of excitement when Heinrich Henkel, of Germany, seeded third behind Budge and von Cramm, trailed Robert Tinkler, of Great Britain, two sets to one, but the

ROSSI TO MEET JEWISH MATMAN

Count Petro Rossi, the Italian nobleman, who sports the long hair and Vandyke beard, will meet Jack Bloomfield, Jewish star, in a return match, with chicken wire nailed around the ring to keep the Count on the inside, at the West End arena Friday night.

During the match last week between this pair, Bloomfield made it so hot for Rossi he would crawl outside the ropes. Although both contestants were ordered not to fight outside the ring, the Jewish boy was the only one who respected this ruling. The fans believed if Rossi would stay inside the ropes, Bloomfield could beat him. Since the Count has manhandled all opponents here, the promoter is giving Bloomfield a chance of meeting him on even terms.

Wild Bill Collins, the terror of southern wrestling circuits, challenged Buck Lawson to an eight-round boxing match. Since these two contestants met in a free-for-all fight last week, Lawson agreed to meet Collins in this manner.

bolivia moved out a little as the resulting country was far from the international neutrality patrol of Spanish waters. Brazilians also declined following the arrival of a representative of the finance ministry to discuss the future servicing of the country's dollar bonds. The bonds have been drawing partial payoffs under a 1934 decree. Other South Americans also lowered a bit.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Raw sugar was up 14¢ to 24 1/2¢-25¢-25 1/2¢ with refiners showing no interest above this level. Holders were unwilling to sell below 24 1/2¢ or 24 3/4¢. The market confirmed was 10,800 bags of Philippines to an operator due July 25, at 24 1/2¢.

Irregular price movements featured the future markets. No. 3 contract advanced 3 points to 2.45, while No. 4 dropped positions showing the maximum upturn, but reacted under July liquidation and hedge selling. July futures were 3 points lower on July and unchanged to 1 high-er on August. No. 3 contract advanced 1 1/2 tons. No. 4 contract likewise showed early gains but eased later under com-mercial house selling. July futures were 2 points lower with sales of 13,500 tons.

THE CONSTITUTION

CLASSIFIED
ADVERTISING

Information

CLOSING HOURS

Want Ads are accepted up to 5 p. m. for publication the next day. The closing hour for the Sunday edition is 1:30 p. m. on Saturday.

LOCAL CLASSIFIED RATES

Daily and Sunday rates per line for consecutive insertions.

10% Discount for Cash

One time . . . 27 cents
Three times . . . 19 cents
Seven times . . . 17 cents
Thirty times . . . 13 cents

Minimum, 2 lines (13 words). In estimating the space to an ad figure six words as a line.

Ads ordered for three or seven days and stopped before expiration will only be charged for the number of times the ad appeared and adjustments made at the rate earned.

Errors in advertisements should be reported immediately. The Constitution reserves the right to revise or reject any advertisement.

All want ads are restricted to their proper classification and the Constitution reserves the right to revise or reject any advertisement.

Ads ordered by telephone are accepted from persons listed in the telephone directory for an memorandum charge only. In return for this courtesy the advertiser is expected to remit promptly.

TARZAN'S QUEST No. 160

Jane's failure to find the secret tunnel was a bitter, perhaps a fatal, blow to the fugitives, for now the awful flames were rushing at them, like some hungry monster intent upon devouring them. "If we don't find a way out soon, we're done for," Brown observed.

"Stay here a minute," Tarzan advised, "and let me look around." Immediately the Jungle Lord pushed open a door and found himself in a dark room. Then he hurried into another passage. He was hoping to find a room with windows giving access to the outside.

But he was doomed to disappointment. The fire already was swallowing the outer wall, cutting off all escape in that direction. He and his friends were being enclosed in a tightening ring of death. As he started back a Kavaru emerged suddenly from the smoke pall.

Tarzan reached out and clutched him. "Show me how to get out of here," he growled; "that is the price of your life." But in the blinding smoke the ape-man had not seen that the warrior carried a long knife in his right hand, and now the Kavaru swung it!

FOR YOUR ROYAL RECEPTION THANKS

Thanks, Atlanta! Thanks a Million!

Your critical approval of ROYAL CROWN Cola has been so generous, so overwhelming, that we are still a little breathless. In a very short period ROYAL CROWN Cola has become a part of your traditional Atlanta hospitality. Never have we known such a reception for a new product. Almost 100% distribution from the finest fountains to the most modest suburban homes.

Today ROYAL CROWN Cola has arrived in Atlanta, and we are proud that your critical appreciation of quality has found it worthy of your choice. True, ROYAL CROWN Cola is, practically speaking, a new drink in Atlanta, but back of each tall, generous bottle is a quarter-century of experience in blending and bottling fine cola beverages. We honestly believe that you, as millions of others have, will prefer it to any other cola drink, because of its rich goodness, its sheer deliciousness, its downright refreshing qualities. That is why we ask you to try it. But there's another reason, too---a very good one---each bottle of ROYAL CROWN Cola contains two (count them) full glasses for 5c.

DRINK

WHEN YOUNGSTERS CLAMOR FOR A COLA DRINK

Nowadays, when many doctors recommend the healthful, refreshing and invigorating zest of a Cola beverage for even the tiniest children, here is the answer to your Cola problem. When young appetites clamor for the taste of a Cola drink, give them Royal Crown cola. Its natural goodness wins their instant affection. Its fruity, tingling taste comes from pure ingredients, cane sugar and sparkling water. And for your peace of mind, each sterilized bottle bears the Seal of Approval of the Good Housekeeping Bureau.

MAKE YOUR OWN TEST OF RC COLA QUALITY

We've been making Cola beverages for a quarter century. We think we know a good one when we taste it. We think Royal Crown cola is the best Cola drink that ever bubbled out of a bottle. But all of this amounts to nothing if you don't think so, too. That's why we urge you to make your own test. Compare Royal Crown cola with any other Cola drink you can buy. We honestly believe its tingling, thrilling goodness will win you. After you've selected Royal Crown because of its quality, remember you get two full glasses in each bottle without one penny additional cost. Look for the big letters R C on the label of each Royal Crown bottle.

WHEN GUESTS DROP IN SERVE RC COLA

Every hostess knows the pleasure of serving something more distinctive and delicious to her guests. When that pleasure is combined with true economy then the occasion is a thrill indeed. When you serve sparkling Royal Crown, your guests will applaud your good taste, your purse will approve your good sense. For each bottle of Royal Crown cola contains two glasses of the grandest Cola Drink you ever tasted.

TRY A ROYAL CROWN COLA WITH YOUR LUNCH TODAY

Royal Crown cola is a grand complement for food. Keep a supply of it in your refrigerator and just see how it pepes up hurriedly thrown together snacks, or when you're shopping, drink a bottle with your lunch. Remember, each bottle holds two full glasses, and that means each bottle contains enough to really make your meals more enjoyable. Royal Crown cola is sold in bottles by soft drink dealers, soda fountains, restaurants, grocers, clubs, hotels, grill-rooms, taverns, all over Atlanta.
